

Pay Raises Passed; Congress May Wind Up By Mid-October

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Sept. 28. (AP)—House approval of two big pay raise bills carried forward today a drive in Congress for adjournment by mid-October.

The pay raise bills would benefit those in the armed services and in the post office department. Besides getting these bills out of the way yesterday, the house sought action today on two more.

Stated to go to the White House late today is the $1,214,010,000 overseas arms program which passed the senate and the house in different form.

Conferees have agreed to recommend final enactment of the senate version, which carries $1,000,000,000 in arms-aid authorization for North Atlantic pact nations; $211,370,000 for Greece and Turkey; $27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines; and $75,000,000 for the China area if the president wants to spend it.

The house originally voted only $669,415,000. It sharply cut the European fund and provided nothing for the Far East.

Action on the compromise comes first in the house, with only token opposition in sight in view of the Russian A-bomb news.

Following that, the house ordered up a bill reclassifying the status of certain civil workers and giving them pay raises.

The armed services measure, passed by voice vote yesterday, is estimated to cost $300,000,000 a year. It went to President Truman for signature. It raises the pay of nearly all uniformed personnel, from privates to generals.

The postal pay raise measure, passed by a vote of 332 to 2, went to the senate, with early action likely. Its estimated cost is $180,000,000 a year. The administration opposed it ineffectively.

Public Must Pay

In addition to getting a flat boost of $150 a year, many employees would be benefited by automatic increases in their job ratings, while all would be given 20 days annual leave instead of the 15 they now receive.

The bill also would raise from $2,550 to $2,900 the annual starting salary of regular field workers in the postal service, and give uniform-wearing workers a $100 annual uniform allowance.

Its passage came as Chairman Murray (D-Tenn.) of the house post office committee promised early action—perhaps late this week—on another bill to increase postal rates by an aggregate of about $125,000,000 a year.

With the pay raises, Murray said, the estimated postal deficit will be around $700,000,000, and the only way to cut it down is to raise rates in classifications of service which now are the big money losers.

Murray's committee has been holding hearings for months on a bill to raise extra millions in postal revenues, including hikes in rates to publications.

Hopes Brighten For Accord In Steel Dispute

Announcement Due At 4 p. m. Today

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Renewed hope for peace in the steel industry developed today with reliable reports that the U. S. Steel Corporation had agreed to grant a 10-cents-an-hour pension and welfare package.

The steel company, bellwether of the industry, was reported still insisting that employees contribute something to the pension program.

The United Steelworkers' Union was silent. The union previously had stood pat on demands that the steel companies pay the entire cost of the pension plan.

However, peace hopes rose on reliable information that U. S. Steel would have a statement later in the day, and on announcement by C. Y. Ching, federal conciliation director, that he would have a statement on the steel dispute about 4 p. m. E.S.T.

Ching was reported ready to offer services of his conciliators to speed bargaining over the new U. S. Steel offer.

The new proposal was reported to provide for a higher company outlay than previously offered.

Stocks Take Jump

Reliable reports said this offer provides that:

U. S. Steel would pay four cents an hour to support a welfare program if the employees pay an average of two cents an hour.

A joint study of pensions would be undertaken, as suggested by the presidential fact-finding board, with the company paying up to six cents an hour in a program to which employees also would contribute.

The plan he contingent on the union's agreeing to extending existing labor contracts until April 30, 1951.

Wall Street interpreted these

Oklahoma Dry Laws Retained

Bootleggers Pleased By Ballot Results

Oklahoma City, Sept. 28 (AP)—Oklahoma is still legally dry, and victory—flushed prohibitionists proclaimed they intend to make it literally dry too.

The fifth attempt in 42 years of statehood to repeal the state's constitutional ban on intoxicants was decisively beaten in a special election yesterday.

With 3,584 out of 3,720 precincts reported, the unofficial returns were:

For repeal—264,661.

Against repeal—313,071.

Victory was conceded to the dry forces at 10:35 p. m. (CST) last night by A. G. Kulp, Tulsa attorney who headed the repeal organization incorporated as the Oklahoma Economic Institute.

The wets said the bootleggers were the real winners. Kulp called the outcome a "tragedy." He added:

"It appears the professional drys convinced the people it is better to trust control of the enormously big liquor business that now exists in Oklahoma to the bootlegger rather than their legislators."

The defeated measure would have empowered the legislature to determine conditions under which liquor could be sold. It forbade the "open saloon."

Oklahoma City and Tulsa went wet by big margins. But traditionally dry rural areas ran up majorities as great as five-to-one for continued prohibition.

Other repeal efforts were defeated in 1903, 1910, 1936 and 1940. Mississippi is the only other state with a statewide liquor ban.

Federal Inquiry Opens At Toronto On Noronic Blaze

Toronto, Sept. 28 (AP)—A Federal government commission today opened an investigation into the cause of the disastrous fire which swept the cruise ship Noronic here on Sept. 17.

The inquiry, presided over by Mr. Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, also will seek to determine whether negligence was involved in the fire. Bodies of 96 of the 130 or more victims have been identified.

Most survivors, who escaped from the flaming 6,900-ton ship as she lay berthed overnight in Toronto harbor, were from Cleveland, O., and Detroit.

Preliminary hearings in those cities showed survivors believed the fire started in a linen closet on C deck.

Officials of the Canada steamship line, owners of the $5,000,000 cruise ship, said a lighted cigarette in a lower deck could have set off the blaze.

Crew Of 13 Perishes In Crash Of B-29

Hailioka, Okla., Sept. 28. (AP)—Loss of the entire crew was confirmed last night when the charred remnants of a B-29 bomber were found in a field near here Monday night.

Unlike Barris and Riedel who flew cross country during their record attempt, the two Yuma aviators are sticking close to home.

China Charges Russia Is Threat To Peace In First Open UN Clash

By A. I. GOLDBERG

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)—Nationalist China and Communist Russia headed for their first open clash in the United Nations today on charges that Russia was a threat to peace.

Conciliation moves were afoot in the old, nagging Greek-Balkans conflict and on the Communist menace to Korea.

But China carried to the assembly's 14-nation steering committee her demand that the whole 59-nation assembly weigh the Chinese charges filed against Russia.

Calm little T. T. Tsiang, the chief delegate of the Canton government to the United Nations, had a full file of charges to throw across the table at Russia but indicated he would hold up on specific details at the committee hearing.

His insistence was to get it on the discussion schedule and he had, Chinese source said, United States and British support for that maneuver. The United States and Britain generally take the stand that any question of wide interest should have a chance to be heard.

Opposing Tsiang in the battle of the huge land mass nations was red-faced, excitable Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Union Foreign Minister.

There were indications in advance that Vishinsky and his supporters would quote liberally from the recent U. S. state department report on China which pictured the shortcomings of China.

County Highway Funds Held Up

Ziegler Has Wrangle With Democrats

Lansing, Sept. 28 (AP)—State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, a Republican, disclosed today that state controller Robert F. Steadman, a Democrat, is preventing him from paying the counties and cities $336,000 in weight taxes which he says were due them July 1.

Ziegler asked Democratic Attorney General Stephen J. Roth whether Steadman could do that legally.

Ziegler said the budget department had estimated weight tax revenues for last year at $33,900,000—all of which is owed to the counties and municipalities.

He said the tax exceeded the estimate by $337,000 and that Steadman refused to permit him to rebate it to the local units, contending it must be held over until next year, included in the budget for that year and then paid out.

"The local units need it badly as they have it coming under the law," Ziegler said. "We want to pay it."

Ziegler jibed at Roth, saying he had asked for an opinion on the matter Aug. 3 and hoped there would be no more delay in getting an answer. He remarked that Roth had found time to issue several opinions siding with Steadman against him in a purchasing feud.

"I thought he'd take that attitude," Roth said. "You will note from his letter that he says the money was to be rebated as of July 1 and that he didn't ask us about it until Aug. 3. He doesn't seem to mind that delay. The matter is being studied and an opinion will be ready soon."

New Offensive Begun Against Chinese Reds

Canton, Sept. 28 (AP)—The nationalists are preparing a counteroffensive against the Communists in China's northern Kwangtung province, official dispatches asserted today.

This counteroffensive will utilize reinforcements just arrived at the key rail town of Kukong, 125 miles north of Canton, the dispatches said. Kukong itself already was under Red threat.

The ministry of National defense said yesterday fighting was in progress only 15 miles east of Kukong and gunfire could be heard inside the town. Kukong is on the rail line linking Canton and the main south China defense base of Hengyang, 265 miles to the north.

Tito Aims New Slap At Russia

Yugoslavs Oust Nine Hungarian Diplomats

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 28 (AP)—Yugoslavia slapped back at a one-time Communist partner last night by ordering nine Hungarian diplomats to get out of the country.

The action, widening the iron curtain rift between Premier Marshal Tito and the Russian bloc, followed by 24 hours Hungary's action in giving walking papers to 10 Yugoslav legation officials in Budapest.

Tanjung, the official Yugoslav news agency, said Hungary obviously intended to "bring about severance of diplomatic relations between Yugoslavia and Hungary."

Meanwhile Marshal Tito in an address accused Russia and her Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) satellites of "rattling their arms" along the Yugoslav border. The Cominform countries, said Tito, are "digging trenches in Hungary and Romania."

Just before Tito's speech, Yugoslavia's Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj told the United Nations assembly in New York that Russia is using all sorts of pressure—from economic blockade to armed demonstrations—to further "imperialistic" aims against this country.

(A Tanjug broadcast heard in London said Yugoslavia had protested to the United States, Britain and Russia that Hungary has broken her peace treaty by cutting off the delivery of war reparations.)

Pennant Races At A Glance

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The American and National League baseball pennant races continue to sizzle with the season due to end on Sunday.

The Boston Red Sox maintained a one-game lead over the New York Yankees in the American league by beating Washington, 6 to 4, last night after the Yankees had defeated the Philadelphia A's, 3 to 1, in the afternoon.

The Pittsburgh Pirates gave new hope to the idle Brooklyn Dodgers in the National league by tripping the St. Louis Cardinals, 6 to 4, last night. The defeat cut the Cards' lead to one game.

Mine District In Pennsylvania Is Powder Keg

No Break Indicated In 10-Day Strike

Pittsburgh, Sept. 28—Gun-toting guards protected more than 1,000 non-union miners who dug soft coal in Western Pennsylvania today.

Heavily armed state police patrolled main highways and isolated roads to keep violence from spreading.

"It's something like a powder keg that might explode at any time," said Sheriff A. R. Hanold of Clarion county. "We're keeping a mighty close watch on the situation to see that no one gets hurt."

The tense situation developed as John L. Lewis' 480,000 United Mine Workers started the 10th day of their strike. There's no sign of an early break in the walkout although the miners are scheduled to meet today with southern operators at Bluefield, W. Va. On Thursday Lewis is expected to attend a meeting with Northern and Western operators at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Picketing increased Reports of increased picketing came from several mining states as an estimated 22,000 men dug coal. Most of the diggers are members of the Independent Progressive Mine Workers in Illinois and Kentucky. The others are non-union miners in small operations, such as those in Western Pennsylvania where more than a score of pickets have been arrested.

Tension grew by the hour in the five-county area northeast of Pittsburgh. In Clarion county, where 17 pickets faced riot charges, Sheriff Hanold said he has given gun permits to numerous non-union operators and their employees, adding: "Quite a few of the fellows in the non-union mines now have a legal right to carry guns. They need them for their own protection."

Some miners or their guards didn't bother obtaining gun permits. They were hunting licenses on their backs and carried shotguns in their arms. The small game season in Pennsylvania opens in November.

Most homes near the mining patches looked unoccupied. But now and then someone lifted a windowshade and peeked out.

State police kept all traffic moving. They got their orders by radio from central control points, speeding to potential danger areas.

Episcopal Convention Gets Case Of Ousted Rector At Brooklyn

San Francisco, Sept. 28 (AP)—The case of the ousted Brooklyn rector, the Rev. John Howard Melish, is expected to reach the 56th general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church late today.

Convention sources said a resolution in his behalf would be presented to the house of deputies. Dr. Melish, rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal church in Brooklyn, was dismissed by Bishop James P. De Wolf. There were charges that Dr. Melish had condoned alleged pro-Communist activities of his son, the Rev. W. H. Melish, 39, associate rector of the church. Parishioners of the church voted 261 to 27 to ignore the ouster of Dr. Melish and to dismiss, instead, nine complaining vestrymen.

Italy Removes Trade Barriers

Way Open For Vital Raw Materials

Rome, Sept. 28 (AP)—Italy has answered appeals from Marshall plan chiefs for fewer trade barriers by opening its borders to unlimited imports of 100 products, mainly raw materials needed for industry.

The foreign commerce department said the list of products for which import licenses have been abolished represent about 45 per cent of all Italian imports from Marshall plan countries. The "free trade" order applies only to goods from Marshall plan countries.

An additional list of imported goods is being prepared on which import licenses will be waived providing other Marshall plan countries grant similar rights to Italy, a spokesman said.

The usual customs duties and currency exchange regulations will prevail on the imported goods but there will be no limitation on quantity. Previously all imports were strictly regulated, with importers being required to get a license before bringing the products into the country.

A government spokesman said the import licenses were abolished on the 100 designated products at the request of Paul G. Hoffman, Marshall plan administrator, to facilitate free flow of trade between Marshall plan countries.

Other Marshall plan countries were reported preparing similar steps.

Lansing Watchdogs Set Targets To Cut Government Costs

Lansing, Sept. 28 (AP)—A legislative "watchdog" committee today set up an impressive series of targets in its drive to reduce the cost of state government.

At the top, and most immediate, was the committee's request that the Detroit City Welfare commission attend its Oct. 24 meeting and suggest methods of changing the welfare laws to remove "scandals" charged against relief administration in Detroit.

Senator Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) said "we want to know whether they have any ideas for statutory recommendations to correct the evils." He referred to charges of welfare "chiseling."

Then the committee authorized its staff to investigate these possibilities for cutting costs:

Hospital rates paid by the veterans trust fund, vocational rehabilitation, welfare, health and crippled and afflicted children agencies.

Expense accounts of state employees, especially those for out-of-state travel.

The state motor pool, where committee members charged there have been abuses. The suggestion has been made the state stop providing cars for all but elective state officials.

Possible sale of the Cadillac Square building in Detroit, the so-called "little capitol," and moving the state military headquarters from Lansing to Detroit.

The rising cost of printing and other reproduction methods. Retains paid for office machines, reported to cost the state $125,000 a year.

The possibility of the state doing part of its office machine maintenance, eliminating contract work.

A reassessment of the cost of providing food and lodging at state institutions for employees.

A census of mental and tubercular patients under state care, and possibly shifting some mental

Yuma Aviators Out For Record

Endurance Flight Has Only Week To Go

Yuma, Ariz., Sept. 28 (AP)—A pair of Navy aviation veterans who now fly only as a hobby are rapidly approaching a new world's endurance flight mark for light planes.

Thwarted twice in their attempt to stay aloft an extended time, Woody Jongeward and Bob Woodhouse now have only a week left before hitting the 1,008-hour mark. That's the record set last Spring at Fullerton, Calif., by Bill Barris and Dick Riedel.

(Although airplane endurance records aren't officially recognized by the National Aeronautics Association, the Barris-Riedel mark is the accepted unofficial record for light planes.)

Already the two Yuma businessmen have eclipsed the old record of 726 hours that stood until this year.

The 31-year-old Jongeward—complete given name Woodrow Pershing—and his 26-year-old flying buddy, planned their endurance try before the Californians set their mark. But the first attempt ended after less than four days and the second was over after 155 hours due to engine failure.

Unlike Barris and Riedel who flew cross country during their record attempt, the two Yuma aviators are sticking close to home.

You can talk to the flyers during their refueling operations. They get gas and food from an automobile speeding 80-miles-an-hour down the Yuma airport runway.

Morning Blaze Destroys Home

Families Escape In Night Clothes

Gladstone—A two-story residence at 1212 Wisconsin avenue occupied by the Herbert Holmberg and Lawrence Grenier families, was gutted by fire at 7:15 this morning.

The Holmbergs and their two children and Mr. and Mrs. Grenier and three children escaped in their night clothes and were taken in the homes of neighbors.

The fire, apparently starting in the lower floor kitchen, spread so rapidly that the only article saved from the home was a washing machine. Members of the Gladstone fire department played two lines on the building to prevent the spread of the blaze, and added to the fire loss was considerable water damage.

The building is owned jointly by Alvin Olson of Chicago and Mrs. Holmberg, who occupied the residence on the structure and their furniture and personal property but the Grenier family had no insurance.

Chinchilla Men Form Association

Chinchilla breeders of Northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan organized at a meeting held in Marinette Sunday, and elected Robert J. Wilkinson of Bark River president for the coming year.

The newly-organized permanent group also elected Curly Benvenuto of Iron Mountain as its vice president and Mrs. Lester Prenevost of Iron Mountain secretary-treasurer.

A capacity crowd attended the meeting in the clubrooms of the Marinette hotel. Northern Wisconsin and Michigan were divided into five districts and the newly-elected president appointed the following as committees to serve in each district:

Escanaba—Joseph Rademacher; Iron Mountain—J. N. Bourdeau; Bark River, Carney—Andrew Blahnik; Menominee, Marinette—Edward Doherty; Green Bay—Emil Blankenschein.

Committee members will make individual studies of the chinchilla industry and will meet at various times to draft rules and regulations which will be submitted to the association at regular monthly meetings.

The association was formed as an independent organization without national or state affiliation, for the time being. The next meeting of the group is scheduled in Powers, in October.

The Escanaba City Band held its annual election of officers Monday night at the regular meeting held in the City Hall. Henry G. Olson was named president, with George S. Milkovich, vice-president, Harland W. Lipold, secretary-treasurer and Wellington Hinz, manager.

Officers Elected At Escanaba High

Homeroom officers, student council officers, and student manager have been elected at Escanaba high school.

Homeroom chairmen and secretaries were elected Friday, September 16, at a special homeroom meeting. Students elected as chairmen will be members of the student council and the secretaries will attend to the homerooms' financial affairs.

Escanaba high school government directly parallels that of the city government. The student council is comparable to the city council and its chairman is comparable to the mayor of Escanaba. The council chooses a student manager who appoints the heads of the various departments which take charge of the different school activities. The five departments are: the promotional, the service, the citizenship, the activities, and the athletic departments.

The student council officers for this year are: Jim Chapakis, chairman, Bob St. Martin, vice chairman, and Dora Rose, secretary.

The student manager who was elected by the council this morning is Bob Myrsten.

Homerooms and officers elected are as follows:

Local Health Costs Lower

State And Federal Aid Is Higher

A carryover in unexpended funds appropriated in Delta and Menominee counties for health district purposes, plus increased federal and state aid for public health, will reduce the requested local appropriations this year, it was revealed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Delta-Menominee health district board.

The board is composed of three supervisors from each county and is headed by Albert Kipfer, Stephenson, health board chairman. Meeting with the board yesterday in Escanaba was Dr. William C. Harrison, district director.

This year the health district budget includes local participation totaling $22,304.86, compared with $28,100 last year.

Of this total $22,304.86, Menominee county will be requested to appropriate $9,763.34 and Delta county $12,541.52.

Last year Menominee appropriated $12,300 and Delta county (including assistance from the townships and cities) a total of $15,800.

Because $4,592.61 of the local appropriations was carried over, unexpended because of a nursing position vacancy and for other causes, the amount was allocated to the credit of the two counties in the budget now prepared.

Menominee county was credited with $2,010.29 and Delta $2,582.32, the allocation being made on a percentage basis of last year's appropriations.

$16,562.26 and this has been increased to $18,385. This money is for specific public health purposes stipulated by law, and administered by the local health office under the state health department.

The state of Michigan increased its aid to the Delta-Menominee health district from $5,000 last year to $8,888.88 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1949. Included in this increase is $2,620 to finance field training expenses for public health nurses who are sent to the district during the year.

At its meeting here yesterday the health board received the resignation of Joseph Bal, sanitarian for Menominee county, who will leave Nov. 1 to become U. P. representative of the Michigan Water Resources Commission. Bal has been employed in Menominee county about one year.

He will be replaced by Wallace Benzie of Norway, who graduated last year from Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton. Benzie recently completed a three-month field training period in Lower Michigan under the Kellogg Foundation program and will report to Menominee county for duty Oct. 15.

Potter Suggests RFC Financing Of Straits Bridge

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 28 (AP)—Congressman Charles E. Potter (R-Cheboygan) has suggested a federal loan as one means of financing construction of a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac.

In a letter to the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, Potter reported that the general counsel of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. had told him the RFC could legally buy bonds on the bridge.

The Michigan Congressman suggested that the state legislature reestablish the 1934 bridge authority which went out under the Siger administration.

Upper Peninsula interests have been campaigning for more than 20 years for construction of a bridge connecting the two peninsulas. It would extend more than three and a half miles. Cost of the span has been estimated at upwards of $100,000,000.

State-operated ferries now carry traffic across the straits. The highway department has predicted that more than 600,000 vehicles and 1,000,000 passengers will be carried this year.

Marquette Stays On Eastern Time

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 28 (AP)—Ballots today showed Marquette voters have rejected Central Standard time for this area by a majority of more than two-to-one.

Last year the city was on Central Standard time until the summer but followed Eastern Standard or fast time in the winter because of diminishing power reserves. Results of yesterday's voting means that Eastern Standard time will be observed here throughout the year.

Mine Districts Of Pennsylvania Are Powder Keg

as heavily loaded coal trucks rolled to main highways.

Some roads on company property were mined with dynamite. Operators who asked not to be identified said guards posted back in wooded areas were equipped with detonating equipment to set off the explosives in case unidentified autos tried to enter.

United mine workers didn't have much to say about the picketing. James Mark, president of UMW District No. 2, had only this to comment—and before the picketing began:

"The union officially plans to do nothing about the reopening of these non-union mines."

Operators said the situation continued "jittery" but declared they would continue to dig coal.

"We don't want any trouble but we'll give it to them (the pickets) if they want it," said one operator spokesman. And another after a meeting of operators at Clearfield last night, added:

"We propose to keep going as long as we possibly can. x x x armed guards will continue to patrol mine areas until things quiet down. If we find it necessary, we'll go to court and get an injunction to prevent pickets from interfering with our work."

Escanaba C of C Begins Balloting For Directors

Nelson, retired.

Polls are now open and will close Monday, Oct. 3 at 7 p. m.

No Letup In Ford Contract Dickers

Detroit, Sept. 28 (AP)—Exhausted negotiators drove forward without let-up today to wind up a new Ford contract before a midnight deadline.

A settlement became more and more certain as the sessions went into the afternoon. The CIO United Auto Workers' strike threat loomed in the background.

Unofficial reports from the bargaining table indicated that the major issues had been pretty well wrapped up. Only minor details remained.

Diminishing Winds Aid Fire Fighters In California Hills

San Bernardino, Calif., Sept. 28 (AP)—Slackened winds are aiding crews battling an 8,000-acre fire in the San Bernardino mountains, 15 miles northwest of here. Dormant and virtually controlled along the southern front where it was touched off by lightning a week ago, the fire is advancing slowly on the east front. There it is moving into rugged, nearly inaccessible terrain 8,000 feet high. Large trees are being attacked.

Norman J. Farrell, area supervisor of the U. S. Forest Service, reports a heavy loss of game and the destruction of considerable acreage of sugar pine.

Five Dead In Wreck Of Argentine Plane; 19 Persons Injured

Buenos Aires, Sept. 28 (AP)—At least five persons were killed last night in the flaming crash of an Argentinian airliner. One crewman is missing.

The ministry of transportation said 19 persons were injured in the crash near Castilla, 155 miles west of Buenos Aires and only 45 minutes away from the airport here.

The plane was returning from a mercy mission in Ecuador, where thousands died in an earthquake recently. Waiting at the airport here to greet it was Senora Eva Peron, the wife of the Argentine president.

Don Cossacks Will Perform Here Tonight

The original Don Cossack Chor-us, whose booming voices will be heard tonight in William W. Oliver auditorium, are Russian to the soles of their shiny boots, but they are also all American citizens.

The husky chorists studied the constitution in Russian and English in daily classes for six weeks, and took their oaths en masse in 1943.

Since 1929 this amazing group of performers, toured the United States annually in Milwaukee since 1932, have toured the United States yearly and cover about 40,000 miles in a single concert swing. Each year the Don Cossacks appear in about 100 cities, and have performed for New Yorkers over 100 times.

In the summer of 1945, the Don Cossacks made a three-months USO tour of Europe and performed in England, France, Holland, Belgium and Germany, singing for American servicemen.

The noted singers arrived here last night from Marquette. Earlier this week they scored a big hit in Manitowish.

Chicago Boys Seek Thrill Under Trains

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Two high school boys were hauled off a railroad embankment by police yesterday, halting what the youths described as their newly discovered idea of a thrill.

Detectives had seen the boys walking along the tracks and then burrow into a 10-inch deep opening under the ties. The officers became more curious when they saw the boys spread a sheet over them.

The cops wanted an explanation. "We like to lie under the tracks and watch the trains go over us," they told detectives James O'Neil and John Pretzel. "We were doing it just for a kick."

The boys told the detectives they discovered the cleared opening under the tracks about a week ago and climbed into it. Within inches of their heads, they said, six trains on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks zoomed over them within 30 minutes.

Death Takes Noted Los Angeles Jurist

Los Angeles, Sept. 28 (AP)—U. S. Judge J. F. T. O'Connor, 63, former comptroller of the currency, died today in his sleep.

The jurist had been ill for more than a year with high blood pressure.

He was a great personal friend of the late president Franklin D. Roosevelt, who called him "Jeffy."

He came here from Grand Forks N. D., to become the law partner of the late U. S. Senator William Gibbs McAdoo in 1925.

An early Roosevelt supporter, he managed FDR's campaign in California in 1932.

Police Chief Puts Finger On Kid Drivers

"The years of supreme—and dangerous—confidence."

Thus, Chief Ettenhofer described the teens and early 20's when, based upon miles driven, the drivers have the highest accident rate of any group.

"Teen-age drivers," Chief Ettenhofer said, "have been under an increasing barrage of criticism during the past few years—criticism which, in the face of evidence seems justified."

Chief of Police M. F. Ettenhofer spoke in connection with the State Safety Commission's program of traffic safety which has as its theme "Child Safety". The campaign is conducted in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"At no time in life does one have greater, misguided confidence in his skill, ability and luck than during the teens," Chief Ettenhofer said. "And it is this notion that contributes to the death of about 7,000 young persons annually. Only about 5 per cent of our drivers are in the teen-age group, and yet this same group is involved in over 8 per cent of all our accidents. In the 15 to 24 years old class, motor vehicle deaths in 1948 were 56 per cent of the accidental death toll for this age group—a percentage that statisticians call 'significant,' and that officials call 'staggering.'"

Chief Ettenhofer, speaking for the State Safety Commission, pointed out that many insurance companies, in view of the rising accident rate among young drivers, have upped their rates on cars that will be driven occasionally by teen-agers.

Some states have also tried to combat this tendency by putting the blame squarely on the shoulders of the parents and making them liable for the actions of their children when they are involved in accidents or are apprehended driving without a license.

Bicycle Stage

"If the present trend continues," Chief Ettenhofer said, "safe as well as careless teen-age drivers are going to get a smearing that will result in their banishment from the road by public opinion. By no means are all young drivers reckless. It's just another case of the minority ruining a good thing for the majority. The responsibility for erasing this stigma on the reputation of young drivers lies on their own shoulders, and on the shoulders of their parents."

Chief Ettenhofer and the State Safety Commission gave the following advice to youngsters and their parents:

1. Teen-agers: Driving is an operation that requires mature judgment and skill. By driving recklessly you are proving to everyone that you are too immature to consider an automobile as anything but a plaything—that you are still mentally and emotionally at the bicycle stage of your development. Your life and the lives of others depend on your driving—when nearly three-fourths of your life is still ahead of you.

2. Parents: Set your children an example of good driving. Teach them the correct thing to do and don't be squeamish in telling and showing them what 3,000 pounds of twisted steel can do to the human body.

If you are convinced that your son does not have sufficient maturity to drive—even if "all the other kids do"—you may save his life by denying him the use of your car until he has proved to your satisfaction that he has an adult attitude.

John Everson Is Fined For Drunk Driving

John Everson of Fox, Mich., paid a fine of $50 and court costs, and had his driver's license revoked, in justice court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car under the influence of liquor.

Everson was arrested by city police in the 1100 block of Ludington street at 2:30 a. m., Sept. 27.

developments as pointing toward a settlement, and stocks jumped from a few cents to more than $2 a share.

In Duluth, Minnesota, miners who dig the ore for the steel mills called off strike plans after a talk with steelworkers union headquarters in Pittsburgh.

Houghton Runs Short Of Coal

Federal Help Asked To Supply Mines

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unofficial rationing of domestic coal has started in many Michigan cities while stockpiles of industrial fuel generally are reported adequate for from two weeks to 90 days.

An Associated Press survey today showed only two cities reporting a "desperate" shortage in the wake of the coal miners walk-out.

At Hillsdale, only one dealer was meeting normal demand. Others were saving their supplies for regular customers. One dealer was reported doling out his supply in half-ton lots.

At Houghton, the Calumet and Hecla Copper Co. appealed to the federal government for aid in getting coal. President D. R. Lovell telegraphed President Truman and Secretary of the Interior Krug that the big mines have only enough coal for maintenance and none for production.

He attributed the shortage to a delay in ordering coal because of the recent mine shutdown occasioned by the low price of copper. Aggravating the situation, Lovell said, was the waning Great Lakes shipping season. Coal reaches the Copper Country by freighter.

Other than Houghton, however, Michigan's Upper Peninsula coal supply situation was comfortable. Marquette reported about 65 per cent of the winter's supply already stockpiled, with enough coal to last until February.

At Escanaba enough coal was believed stored to provide both domestic and industrial demand unless depleted to cover shortages in other cities.

Supplies at Sault Ste. Marie also were reported ample.

Huge Surplus Of Corn This Year

UP here in this part of America we do not always realize the importance of the country's corn crops. Corn keeps edging northward year after year, and it is now a sizeable annual product in Menominee and Delta counties. Over in the Minnesota prairie country, somewhat farther north than Green Bay, corn is making a wonderful showing. Southern and central Minnesota have become real corn territory.

But it takes Illinois and Iowa to really raise corn. These and neighboring states are harvesting 3,500 million bushels of corn this fall, and there is a carry-over of 800 million bushels from last year.

The bumper corn crop now ripening in midwestern fields looks good to the men who own the country grain elevators. They will handle millions of bushels of this product on its way to market, and they'll make good money on it. But there's a cloud on the corn horizon.

Uncle Sam is going into the business of storing corn in a big way. There's such a flood of corn that the elevators can't begin to handle it. There are 17,750 elevators in the U. S., and most of them handle corn. But three times as much space as is now available is needed for the adequate housing of this year's corn crop.

So the federal government is building elevators and storage houses at many points, and the elevator men fear that Uncle Sam is getting in to stay, and that he will prove a tough competitor. The emergency is a great one, and the solution smacks of socialism. But even government elevators will not be able to take care of the tremendous crop, so farmers are being urged to build more storage quarters, and are being offered government loans of up to 85 per cent of the cost. The suggestion is that large garages or implement houses be built, and that they will come in handy for other purposes after the corn glut is over. And anyway, most of the country elevators have profitable sidelines that help out in the non-rush periods.

It's a comforting thought that the great American porker is fond of corn. Let him eat enough of it, and the price of ham, bacon and sausage should show a welcome drop before the year is over.

Seaway Project Gains Importance

THE importance of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway from the standpoint of national defense has sharply increased as a result of Russia's success in developing the atom bomb. Senator John Foster Dulles of New York pointed that out this week in calling upon congressional approval for immediate and speedy construction of the seaway project.

One of the prime arguments in support of the seaway has been the national defense factor, the development of an inland waterway system not highly vulnerable to enemy attack. The seaway project would permit the establishment of major shipyards on Great Lakes ports where their protection from atomic attack would be much more simpler than coastal shipyards.

The other compelling reasons for the St. Lawrence seaway—the need for expansion of low cost transportation, the development of the tremendous power resources of the St. Lawrence river, etc.—still remain. But now that Russia has produced atomic weapons, the construction of the seaway has become a vital necessity for the national defense of this country. We cannot afford to wait until war comes, or decline to build on the chance that the efforts for world peace will succeed.

Further impetus to the seaway project has been given by the discovery of immense high grade iron ore deposits in Quebec and Labrador. Steel companies, formerly among the most potent opponents of the seaway project, are now lining up in support of it.

Up to now every effort to get congressional approval for the seaway has failed. Today's conditions indicate that a change in sentiment is moving rapidly and that before too long realization of this dream of men with vision will be fulfilled.

Venus Business Outlook Favorable

ANNOUNCEMENT by the Venus company that 20 more workers have been added to the payroll in the past two weeks is welcome news in this community. The Venus company now is employing 145 women, according to this report, with prospects for further expansion in the weeks ahead.

Production is on the upswing and orders likewise are running at a lively clip. The Venus company's experience in Escanaba has proved that it is possible to start from scratch in a new community, train an entirely new work force and do an excellent job of production with quality that permits the company to compete favorably with other manufacturers. The Escanaba Glove company, another of the new industries here employing female labor, likewise is enjoying a similar experience.

It is interesting to note that both of these manufacturing plants are doing business in Escanaba because of the cooperative spirit of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee and particularly the City of Escanaba, which owns the two buildings occupied by the manufacturing companies.

County Slickers Vs. The City Yokels

CHARLES A. BEARD, American historian, has called attention in his "Enduring Federalist," to a statement by Thomas Jefferson. The latter thought that cultivators of the earth, free-hold, land-tilling farmers, are the one guarantee of civic virtue in the Republic.

"They are," said Jefferson, "by far the most valuable citizens. They are the most virtuous, and they are tied to their country, wedded to its liberty and interests by the most lasting bonds."

"Our urban artisans are the instruments by which the liberties of a country are generally overturned. The 'mobs' of great cities are sours on the body politic. When we get piled upon one another in large cities, as people are in Europe, we shall become corrupt as in Europe and go on eating one another as they do there," continues the great president.

Obviously all country folks do not agree with Jefferson, says the New York Times. Great numbers of them have come to live in the cities. Rural residents comprised 61 per cent of the nation in 1930; today they are only 54 per cent.

Then, too, things have changed since Jefferson's time. The newspaper, the radio, constant inter-travel and many other factors are welding us together in a way that Jefferson could not dream of. There is no longer any isolation to speak of. Politically, economically and socially speaking, we all live in glass houses and we are all neighbors. The city yokels far outnumber the country slickers, but that's because the towns have grown so huge and so crowded. And many a city dweller dreams of the happiness that might be his if he could only live in the great uncrowded spaces, which forever are for him nothing but a pleasant and impossible vision.

MOLASSES BARRELS

There was a time when molasses played an important role in daily living. At the turn of the century many homes kept the molasses pitcher filled and on the table. Men and boys planned to come to the kitchen whenever Mother took a batch of brown-crusted loaves from the oven. Thick slices of hot buttered bread generously spread with old-fashioned, tangy molasses plus a glass of cold buttermilk made a very acceptable lunch between meals. In hot weather of haying and harvesting, Grandfather insisted on his jug of molasses water: one gallon of water, a pint of molasses, a quarter cup of vinegar and a little nutmeg for flavoring.

Molasses making is older than the Bible. The mythology of Hindu writings tends to the assumption that molasses and sugar may have been produced first in India. Ancient scripts refer to India's "honey bearing" reeds. We know for certain that sugar cane was grown in the Mesopotamia Valley in the fifth century, A. D. Today cane is grown in the tropical and sub-tropical belt around the earth. In 1750 sugar cane was introduced to America in the area around New Orleans. For almost two centuries good cooks have used molasses in puddings, cakes, cookies and pies.

There was one pleasant aspect of molasses use that older folks regarded tolerantly a generation ago. After the hoghead was drained in the General Store, the storekeeper rolled the empty barrel out into the lot behind his store. Ten year old boys knew what to do. They set the hind end up on blocks a few inches high so that what molasses was left in the barrel would drain down toward the bung hole. A few days of mellow sunshine would half-crystallize the residue into a sticky, chewy, and altogether satisfying candy. Small boys took turns poking a finger into the bung hole and twisting on as much of the taffy-like substance as possible. A good finger load meant a fellow could chew for a considerable number of minutes. Sometimes the old storekeeper would stand on the back stoop and watch with a smile as boys struggled to scoop a big load. And maybe, as one looks back, he left a little extra molasses just so the young fry could get enough to make their efforts worthwhile.—By Heydn Pearson.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

AGAIN "NOSTALGIA"

Kansas City: You and I to the contrary, "nostalgia" by common usage has come to mean "fond recollections of bygone days." Why don't we give up and accept it? After all, common usage rather than etymology, should govern word meanings.—P. L. D.

A. First, let me emphasize again that this column does not create correctness. Its function, like that of the dictionaries, is to report and interpret good usage, and not to dictate what shall or shall not be said.

It is true that of late the word nostalgia has taken on a new and hazy meaning suggesting a sense of wishfulness, reminiscence, or yearning for bygone times, places, people, customs, and experiences.

If the word stopped there, we could not quarrel with such a meaning, for there is no law against investing words with new and extended meanings—that is the way all languages grow.

But nostalgia and nostalgia have become omnibus words with so many different, contradictory, hackneyed, and absurd meanings that it is impossible to put your finger on them. The words, therefore, are being destroyed by careless and improper usage; and soon, more's the pity, they will come to have no meaning at all.

Nostalgia was coined, during the 1800's

Russian War Power Might

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—At a conference of civilians in the Pentagon, top military men gave details of Russia's military might. In planes and tanks, both in numbers produced annually and in being, in the number of troops in divisions at full strength or nearly full strength, and in almost every other category Soviet totals vastly exceed those of the United States and the North Atlantic nations combined.

When this graphic recital was ended, one of the civilians asked a question. He wanted to know why Russia was outstripping this country.

The military men had a simple answer for that one. It was because for a year after the war ended the Soviet Union continued military production at the peak wartime level, turning out great reserves of planes, tanks and guns. Since then, at least 15 per cent of all Russian production has been for military purposes.

A DANGEROUS ILLUSION

When the military men spoke, they knew what their civilian audience did not know—that Russia conclusively and beyond any doubt had the atomic bomb. Now the Soviet government has stated flatly that ever since Molotov's announcement in November, 1947, that atomic fission was no longer a secret, they have had the means to make the weapon.

All this means to illuminate the dangerous illusion that has dominated much of American thinking and therefore, to a certain degree, American policy. In the flash of that Russian explosion we should look honestly at our position.

Irving Langmuir, distinguished American chemist who won the Nobel prize in 1932, visited Moscow in 1945 for the 100th anniversary of the Russian Academy of Science. Not long after his return he contributed an essay to "One World or None," a volume on the significance of atomic fission.

Langmuir, director of research for General Electric, pointed out the advantages he believed the Russians would have in an atomic weapons race. What he said then has great relevance at this moment. He gave the following reasons:

"1. They have a large population. It can be regimented and is willing to sacrifice living standards for a long-range defense program.

"2. They have a remarkable system of incentives, which is rapidly increasing the efficiency of their industrial production.

"3. They have no unemployment.

"4. They have no strikes.

"5. They have a deep appreciation of pure and applied science, and have placed a high priority on it.

"6. They have planned a far more extensive program in science than is contemplated by any other nation."

You may disagree with some of the terms in the above—for example, the word "willing." But for whatever reason, the Russian people are sacrificing their living standard to construct and maintain a military machine far greater in numbers and now been added the atomic weapon.

ONLY TWO CHOICES

In view of these facts, there can no longer be the slightest excuse for talking about winning a war with an atomic blitz aimed at strategic Russian centers. That dangerous talk has come in the recent past from supposedly responsible members of congress. Nor is it enough to talk about "keeping ahead" in the race for bigger and more destructive atomic weapons.

Two choices seem to me open to this country. Since the overall approach for international control of all atomic energy will not work, the time has come to try a limited approach to get agreement to restrict not merely weapons of mass destruction, but mass armies. In the Sunday statement by Tass, the Soviet government said for the first time that "control will be essential in order to check up on fulfillment of a decision of the prohibition of production of the atomic weapon." This is a significant concession.

The other choice is to begin to arm on a realistic scale in every department and not just in atomic weapons. To do this would mean major sacrifices by the American people. It could well mean drastic changes in our way of life. Responsible military men have always known that the atomic bomb could not win a war, and certainly not win a peace.

A limited agreement on mass weapons and mass armies would not mean an end to the American policy of containing Soviet aggression and preserving the western democracies. As we are too apt to forget, the real weapon there is economic rather than military. But it would mean an end to the dangerous delusion that we in America can enjoy the "fruits of a boomtime peace and then, if and when the time comes, polish off Russia with a few atom bombs in a few high-flying bombers.

from the Greek notes, "a return home," plus algia, "pain." It was a medical and psychological term designating "homesickness causing a severe and sometimes fatal melancholia." Literally, then, nostalgia is a form of mental derangement. Is that what the Los Angeles ad writer had in mind in naming a sheer, white silk nightgown for the bride's wedding night "Romantic Nostalgia"? Apparently not.

Nostalgia, in the meaning of, "wistful thoughts of or yearning for bygone days, places, people, etc.," can be a useful and descriptive word. There is no other word with that exact meaning.

But nostalgia already has been worked to death. It has become a cliché with little or no meaning. Soon good writers will discard the word altogether. Then it will join the host of other dead words that have been killed by fatuous and ignorant writers.

You'll want Mr. Colby's list of the 100 English words most frequently mispronounced. C-3. It contains many a surprise. For a copy, send 5 cents in coin, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York, 19, N. Y.

Oasis---Or Just Another Mirage?

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

PROBLEM—Where the interests of the hook and line sports fishermen and the commercial fishermen conflict, you can usually expect considerable argument.

Recently, however, some of the local commercial fishermen have been taking a line that coincides with the thinking of the sports fishermen—at least so far as it affects the conservation of walleyes on Little Bay de Noc.

This is a problem affecting not only the sports and commercial fishermen, but also the operators of tourist and resort establishments in Delta county. For the walleye fishing on Little and Big Bays de Noc has attracted an increasing number of visiting fishermen each spring and summer.

They have also attracted to Delta county commercial trap netters from "outside." The take on walleyes in total, therefore, is going up locally. The heavy fishing from all sides is expected to deplete the local supply. Walleyes may, within a couple years, become as scarce as they were six or seven years ago.

IT'S LEGAL—Most commercial fishermen, like their sports-fishing brothers, are law abiding. There is no law that prohibits "outside" fishermen from obtaining a license to fish local waters so long as they conform to the licensing regulations. Trap netters from Port Huron are now operating out of Escanaba, and some from Wisconsin have Michigan licenses and are fishing out of Fayette. It is understandable that local fishermen, particularly those who set only gill nets, look upon this as an intrusion.

BOTH SIDES—There is one man we know who can see both sides of the problem—and he isn't talking about protecting the walleyes in the bays. He is located south of Escanaba on the shore of Green Bay, where for the past 12 years he has catered to the hook and line fishermen. He also does commercial fishing—but only after the sports fishing season slacks off.

This man pointed out that the perch are biting well at his place. At the same time the perch moved in so did a couple of itinerant commercial fishermen with gill nets and set them in waters generally regarded (but not, by the law) as sports fishing grounds.

Again, in the above instance, the men with nets are not violating the law in setting there. The trouble is with the law, says our friend. What is needed is a clear-cut separation between waters set aside for the hook and line fisherman and the net fishermen. The Great Lakes are big enough, he believes, to establish sports fishing areas without cutting into the commercial fishing business.

RIVALRY—Some of the current agitation stems from the rivalry between the local and the "outside" commercial fishermen. The local fishermen, who have Escanaba—The Most Rev. Joseph Casimir Plagens, Bishop of the Diocese of Marquette, will celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of his consecration as a bishop, today. The observance opening this morning at 10:30 o'clock with a Solemn Pontifical Mass in St. Peter's Cathedral.

Gladstone—Miss Helen Erickson has returned to Chicago following a visit at the home of her father, Andrew Erickson, Buckeye Addition. She was accompanied on her return by her sister, Miss Hilda Erickson, who will remain for a visit.

experienced lean years in the past, feel they are entitled to a clear field when the big harvest is on. The "outside" fishermen point to the law and to their boat license that permits them to fish within a 50-mile radius of Escanaba, Fayette, or wherever they may be located.

Such licenses are issued for a period of one year. How do the boats get here from Wisconsin, from downstate? By obtaining a new license for the new location. How do they manage that? By showing that the boat is in new ownership, with the owner residing in Delta county. Does the boat really change hands? Not very often, say the local fishermen. It's just a deal on paper for a $1 consideration. But it does make possible the issuance of a new license and accomplishes the transfer of the boat to another location.

MANY INTERESTS—There are at least four groups interested in the fishing problem:

1.—The local commercial fishermen.

2.—The fishermen who have recently moved here from "outside."

3.—The hook and line sports fishermen.

4.—The operators of tourist and resort places catering to sports fishermen.

And in general it might be said that the whole Delta county community is interested, because the tourist and resort business, plus the fishing industry, are factors of economic importance.

What the future will bring is anybody's guess. The Delta County Tourist Council has discussed the problem at one of its recent meetings.

It should be emphasized that, despite some belief to the contrary the problem is not a local one. Similar situation exists in many parts of the state. Policies broad enough for state-wide application yet sufficiently specific to meet local requirements are the only sensible solution. This is a problem for the state legislature and the conservation commission.

Training Firemen

Dear Editor:

The move to provide firemen in Escanaba and surrounding communities with up-to-date instruction and plenty of opportunity for practice seems an excellent one to me.

Firemen themselves no doubt greatly appreciate a chance to train and learn. Come a fire, they will have much more confidence and be able to accomplish their job with greater efficiency.

Knowledge of the how and why of things can be acquired in many ways. Lack of it has no defense, no matter how nice we are, or how sincere we may be in our good intent.

He Hates Cats

Dear Editor:

Have you noticed the great number of cats (domestic variety) in the woods these days? In a trip through the peninsula last week, I saw a cat sink along the highway about every mile or two. When you see this many, you can be sure that there are a great number more that are back in the woods and that you don't see.

Cats are among the worst predators in the woods. It seems a shame that people raise cats and then dump them out in the woods to forage for themselves. It would be far better if the excess cats (they're all excess, as far as I'm concerned) were destroyed.

We pay bounties to get rid of wildcats, coyotes, wolves, etc., and then turn domestic cats loose in the woods to kill birds, rabbits, etc. Doesn't make sense, does it?

Not a Cat Lover.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—For three years, a running filibuster has been going on to keep the fair employment practices bill from coming up on the senate floor. But after 2,000 pages of testimony, the weary talkathon was temporarily ended—without fanfare—when the bill was discharged by the senate labor committee.

This is the most controversial of all the civil-rights legislation and is certain to touch off another filibuster as soon as it reaches the senate floor. All that is holding it up now is the Democratic high command—still undecided whether to bring up civil rights at the tail end of this session while the senators are too tired to talk and in a mood to go home, or to save civil rights until the 1950 election year when it will be more potent politically.

The last words of the three-year filibuster against the fair employment practices bill were said behind closed doors. Starting off, the man who blocked the bill at the previous session, Senator Forrest Donnell of Missouri, sputtered: "Drew Pearson in his newspaper column gave me undue credit for delaying this bill!"

What had happened was that Donnell, though not a Southern Democrat but a Midwestern Republican, had blocked the bill on a technicality. Though this also had taken place behind closed doors, it was reported afterward in this column.

Not pleased at being exposed, Donnell went on angrily: "I think the members of this committee know I am not one to bicker over technicalities!"

THE GENTLEMAN FROM MISSOURI

This brought a hoot of delight from the other senators, since Donnell has been known to debate literally for an hour over the placement of a comma.

Red-faced, the senator from Missouri went on to explain that the only reason he had held up the bill was at the request of Alabama's Senator Lister Hill who had been called over to the White House. Yet, no sooner had Donnell disclaimed responsibility for blocking the bill, than he turned around and called for more hearings—which would have prolonged the filibuster indefinitely.

Minnesota's hair-trigger Senator Hubert Humphrey leaped to his feet.

"How much more hearings do you think we need?" he snorted. "We have already heard from 250 witnesses who have filled 2,600 pages of testimony."

In a vote on Donnell's proposal for more hearings, four other senators sided with him—Taft of Ohio, Pepper of Florida, Hill of Alabama, and Withers of Kentucky. Three senators sided with Humphrey—and for FEPC—Thomas of Utah, Neely of West Virginia, and Murray of Montana. But Chairman Thomas pulled two proxies out of the bag from Morse of Oregon, and Douglas of Illinois—for FEPC. This gave Humphrey and Thmoas a one-vote majority—for a moment at least.

DONNELL'S "INFINITE WISDOM"

Then Donnell triumphantly pulled out a letter from Smith of New Jersey, authorizing Donnell to vote for him and trusting to Donnell's "infinite wisdom." Donnell raised a question, however, on how the proxy should be applied.

"Don't forget that you are empowered with 'infinite wisdom,'" chided Hill. "You can't make a mistake."

Finally it was agreed by an 11-1 vote to discharge the bill without a recommendation either for or against it. The lone dissenter, in this case, was not Donnell—but Hill of Alabama.

GERM WARFARE

Despite the unpleasant news about Russia's A-bomb, those who plan U. S. war strategy had long ago figured on a Russian weapon probably even more gruesome—namely, germ warfare.

Bacteriological warfare preparation is now no secret either in the United States or Russia. By the end of the war the United States navy had developed a germ capable of wiping out the entire Japanese rice crop. The germ, of course, was never used. But since then, American scientists have continued their experimentation, while Soviet scientists are reported to have been working feverishly and to have developed two types of virus. One would wipe out cattle, the other would spread pestilence among human beings.

U. S. intelligence regarding developments behind the iron curtain is now much better than at the end of the war. It's even known that the Russians are working on inoculation for their own troops so they could advance into enemy territory immune to disease germs, after their own bacteriological warfare units had knocked out the enemy.

For some time this was to be Russia's chief answer to the atomic bomb, for germ warfare can be prepared in small, inexpensive laboratories instead of the acres and acres of industrial plants necessary for A-bomb construction.

WINCHELL RESCUES REFUGEES

The 1,278 Americans and other refugees who left beleaguered Shanghai last week aboard the SS Gen. W. H. Gordon can thank Walter Winchell for their rescue.

Behind that fact is an almost unbelievable story of official procrastination and red tape. For weeks, about 400 Americans have been pleading with their government for some means to leave Shanghai, while the American President Lines also has been pleading with the state department and the navy for permission to enter Shanghai and pick them up.

But the navy passed the buck to the state department and the state department passed it back, on top of which Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson said "No." Even the person appeal of George Killian, head of the American President Lines, who has raised more money for the Democratic party than Johnson, got nowhere. Killian had flown back from Europe to arrange the evacuation, was willing to risk his ship. But the government was not willing to cut red tape.

Finally Walter Winchell blasted the defense department for cowardice. Next morning the SS Gen. Gordon was permitted to enter Shanghai.

So Ivan Has Atomic Bomb

Relieves Tension, Rurark Muses

By ROBERT C. RUARK
New York, Sept. 26—The informal reaction to President Truman's proclamation about Russian possession of the atomic bomb, that I have encountered, has been largely calm, and somewhat heavily mixed with relief. I have talked to no generals or physicists—merely to the people who would have to catch it if the Russians threw it—and they seem remarkably unhystrical about the whole thing.

As a matter of fact there seems much less public hysteria about the A-bomb now than just after the war, when it was the No. 1 cocktail topic, and the ladies were muttering nobly about raising no children in such a doom-sure world. The fact that the Russians have it rather relieves the tension of waiting for the worst. It is roughly comparable to a childish expectation of a whipping, which turns out to be not so bad, after all.

We're Not Dead Yet
A weekend has passed since Mr. Truman made his baleful announcement, and we still are not dead in our beds. The voices from on high have already begun to speak soothingly of the length of time it will take for the Soviets to stockpile enough of the big apples to mount an offensive with them. This estimation could be as wrong as the prediction that the Russians couldn't possibly find the combination before 1952, thereby setting us two years behind in our military program.

We now walk again into the popular theory, that since both sides have it neither will dare to use it, just as gas was not employed in the last war. We didn't use gas because it was largely impractical, not for any sentimental reasons about its horrid effect on its victims. It was tricky to control, its use made terrain inhospitable to advancing troops, and it was not devastating as a killer except under certain rare circumstance, such as touching off a gas-blast into a cave.

We encounter the hopeful thought that the futility of blasting cities on both sides would take some of the profit out of war; that it would be silly to polish off New York if our guys rubbed out Moscow in swift retaliation. We come to the ethical end: would the usually quiet United States willingly bomb Rome, London or Paris if the Russians took them over?

One of these approaches indicates a great deal of desire to bury the head under the pillows and kick and scream that the world in finished, with total destruction around the corner. Maybe we are becoming too skeptical of threat; maybe our fear reflexes have been blunted by a too-constant hammering from Washington. Maybe we will all be dead as door-nails in the near future, but the people I've met don't seem to be overly apprehensive about it.

It is possible that we have had the atom on our hands for sufficient length of time to rob it of its menace, like a tiger grown fat and slothful in his cage, and since we have not loosed the tiger, we lull ourselves with the idea that the Russian tiger is just as fat and just as lazy as ours. This feeling might place us all neck-deep in a slappie, some day, but the feeling exists.

One thing President Truman's announcement has inspired is an impatience with the petty bickerings of the armed forces—forces, which, in the four years of peace, seem farther away from unification than ever. The shoddy political squabbles in Washington, the naked animosities between the services, inspire little more than disgust today, if some sort of program must be solidified to meet whatever menace the Russian A-bomb holds for us. I suppose it would be presumptuous for an ordinary citizen to call on his leaders to behave themselves, now; to quit politicking aimlessly over deep-freezes and anonymous letters and get back on the ball; to choose the best of plan and equipment and knock off grinding axes to suit the cause of selfish interest. I suppose that would be too much to demand of our elected peers and their appointed experts, but the wish to demand it is here.

We on the street cannot know if the Russians wish to use their bomb, or how long it will take them to prepare it in sufficient quantities for use. We have little faith in the United Nation's ability to control it. But we would like its menace either to be amply met or prayerfully ignored—not a mixture of both, with futile fiddling and the hosts of doom intermingled with the whistles in the dark.

A Big Boost For Smitty!

Stepped into Smith's Department Store the other noon and saw the strangest thing. "Sis" Davis was coming up the stairs from the basement with a bundle of wash.

"Is Smitty taking in washing these days?" I asked. "Not quite," she says. "He's just put in a new automatic washing machine, so the girls who work here can get their laundry done while they're eating lunch. Means more time to relax at night and on weekends."

I thought what a swell boss Smitty must be. Human relations between the boss and employees have certainly taken a big step forward during my lifetime.

From where I sit, people seem to be doing a better job of seeing our neighbor's viewpoint these days. Though his ideas and tastes may not be ours, we can understand his preference for a certain breakfast cereal, a favorite movie star, or for a temperate glass of beer or ale. That's the way it should be in a free country.

STOMACH TROUBLE GONE — O-JIB-WA DID WONDERS FOR ME

— Mrs. Fay Cox —

I suffered miserably from indigestion, gas pains, stomach distress, nervousness and severe headaches before I used O-JIB-WA BITTERS, says Mrs. Fay Cox, a suburban Detroit.

Every person suffering with gas, indigestion, heartburn, nervousness, headaches and that always tired feeling, is strongly urged to read the following unpaid testimonial of Mrs. Fay Cox, of 17742 Dix Road, Melvindale, Michigan. This statement will be a revelation to many thousands of suffering men and women, who have sought in vain for relief from the same torturing miseries, which plagued this grateful Melvindale woman.

Gas made it hard to breathe
I would like to tell you about my experience with O-JIB-WA BITTERS. Stomach trouble and gas have bothered me almost continually for over a year, and for the three months before taking O-JIB-WA it was really bad. It seemed that no matter what medicines I tried I continued to get worse. Everything I ate seemed to turn to gas and I would burst up to badly that it was extremely hard for me to breathe. My heart would just pound and I was so nervous that I could jump. To add to my misery my kidneys bothered me a lot, making a good night's sleep impossible. I would get severe headaches that would last all day, which was terrible. I knew I was getting pretty bad.

Results in one week
One night I read about O-JIB-WA BITTERS in one of the local papers and

I decided to see if it would help me. My husband went out that very night and bought a large bottle. I started taking it, and have been thankful ever since. Now, I want you to know that I am sincerely grateful for what your medicine has done for me. By the time I had taken it for one week, I could tell that the gas was loosening up, and I felt much better. My condition continued to improve and by the time I had finished the bottle, my stomach trouble disappeared. I was completely well, and could then eat anything without the slightest distress from stomach pains or gas, and my headaches and nervousness are both things of the past. I have plenty of pep, and needless to say I eat, sleep and feel 100% better. Because of the wonders that O-JIB-WA BITTERS has done for me, I believe it to be the best all around medicine I know of. I highly recommend it to everyone. Incidentally, my husband is taking it at the present time.

WHAT IT IS HOW IT WORKS

O-JIB-WA BITTERS is an all herb medicine, containing no dope or harmful drugs. This great medicine acts to uproot and drive out the causes of most common stomach ills. O-JIB-WA is like taking "5 medicines in 1", as it stimulates the digestive organs, stopping gas, indigestion and heartburn. It helps to clear the blood of poisons and waste that foster size spots, headaches and rheumatism. O-JIB-WA strengthens weak sluggish kidneys to relieve backaches, night rising and restless sleep. Yet, it is truly an amazing medicine and much more could be said for it. However, the proof is in its use. We urge every sufferer to try this medicine. YOU WILL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED. O-JIB-WA BITTERS is not expensive. It is available in three economical sizes and sold in all leading drug stores in Michigan. Being especially recommended by:

Urbanites Ask Farm Advice

Karl Knaus Writes In Extension Review

Washington (AP)—City folks are showing increasing interest in rural affairs. The job of the Department of Agriculture's extension service is growing bigger with the increasing number of calls upon the county agents for advice and assistance. And now many calls come from people in cities.

Karl Knaus, central states field agent, says in the government's Extension Service Review that expansion of cooperative extension work to people living in cities is due to the fact that many urban families started garden programs during the war.

KNOWN HERE

Karl Knaus is a brother of Grey Knaus of Cornell.

Also, he says, there has been increasing emphasis on bringing information about opportunities for better purchasing of agricultural products. Trends of decentralization of industry and the increasing movement of people to rural areas surrounding industrial areas, with the desire of these people to grow at least part of their food supply, are other factors.

As for the farmers, Mr. Knaus says that more and more they are finding a community of interest with urban dwellers in the solution of such problems as finding markets for farm products, consumer understanding of food food buys, better community health services and national agricultural policy.

City people, as well as farm people are learning more about rural problems by means of information brought to them through the press, over the radio, on the television screen. "This has dramatized urban interest in agricultural problems, and the experts get many calls on matters relating to gardens, small fruits, flowers, lawns and shrubbery," says Mr. Knaus.

"Such questions as control of insects on the roses, leaf spot on the lilacs, varieties of grass and fertilizers for lawns and desirable shrubs for landscaping are asked most often, but the questions almost cover the agricultural front." Today, he says, many agricultural agents hold winter garden meetings with city gardeners, help organize custom spray and other services and advise dealers in garden supplies on varieties, spray materials and fertilizers they should stock.

Another way the agent is helping city people is in landscaping the grounds of public buildings, planning playgrounds, sodding athletic fields and so on. In many towns the agricultural agent and the teacher of vocational agriculture are the only people trained to help work out such problems, except perhaps the nurseryman.

A recently completed survey of the northwest shows that agricultural agents in that area spend one-fourth of their time working with urban people. Similar interest is popping up all over the country, Mr. Knaus says.

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—Sick people who can't eat will soon be able to get meals of steaks and milk by needle injections.

The shots will supply the chemical bricks from which other proteins are made. The food bricks will be shot into the blood, to be used exactly like food taken by mouth.

This needle feeding can save the lives of people near death from starvation, or who can't eat because of cancer of the stomach or diseases that interfere with normal digestion.

A little of this needle feeding has been tried already. But the cost is terrific and only a small amount of the food bricks have been made.

Dr. Jesse P. Greenstein, biochemist of the National Cancer Institute, announced a cheap, simple method of mass producing these protein bricks, called amino acids.

The new method can produce all eight of the amino acids which the human body must get in food, he told the American Chemical Society.

It produces them in a safe, pure form that won't cause bad reactions or shock. It can make them by the pounds, instead of fractions of ounces as by present methods, he added.

One of these food bricks, methionine, has been selling at $6.50 a gram, which is 1/28th of an ounce. He said. The new method made it for 30 cents a gram. A human needs at least several grams a day. Similar savings can be made in making all the other essential food bricks, he reported.

The new method will be made available to commercial producers, since the cancer institute doesn't have facilities to make the materials in amounts needed by hospitals and doctors.

Research will also benefit, Dr. Greenstein said. The different amino acids can be tested for their effect on growth, and to learn how much each one is needed in health and sickness. They may also aid in chemical studies of cancer.

Dr. Greenstein headed a biochemistry team consisting of Drs. Vincent E. Price, Paul J. Fodor, James B. Gilbert, Alton Meister, and Carl Baker. The cancer institute is one of the research arms of the U. S. public health service.

The new process breaks proteins down into their component parts, by pre-digesting them. Each amino acid comes in two forms, slightly different and resembling each other like a pair of gloves. Only one form, the left glove of the pair, can be injected into the blood safely. The other may cause bad reactions.

Problems of getting just the one form, without impurities, were solved in developing the process, Dr. Greenstein explained.

Britain Seeks More Dollars

Economic Union Is Needed—Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON

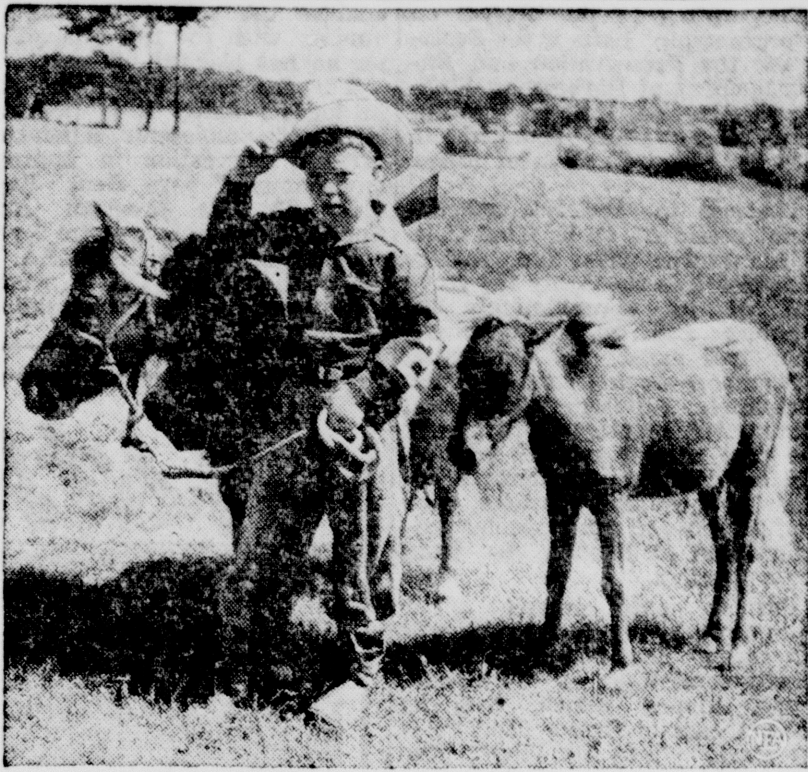

New York City—The American-English Conference now going on has tremendous possibilities for good. Surely it is a one-way street and cannot do any harm. It can affect every reader of this column.

Frankly, the Englishmen want us to give them more dollars. The financial interests here in New York look upon Bevin, Attlee and Cripps as pure Socialists. These New York bankers say "Why should we Americans use good U. S. dollars to make Socialism a success?" Hence, they are trying to get the English government to promise to give up Socialism in return for U. S. dollars—or at least not push it further.

But here is the answer of Bevin, Attlee and Cripps: "At the present time the world is divided into two great and powerful groups—The democracies which stand for free enterprise, and the Russians who stand for Communism. Unless some middle ground of compromise can be developed, both groups are headed for a World War III which will destroy civilization. We believe England is trying to work out such a compromise—a safe bridge between America and Russia. It is worth billions of dollars to the United States to help us do this." This is England's argument and I'm inclined to believe it will appeal to President Truman.

Questions Being Discussed
Many questions are being discussed. Chief of these is the devaluation of the pound which would make it easier for the English to sell their goods without increasing the efficiency of their labor and machinery. This would be only postponing the final day of reckoning because England would not now need to debase her currency if her production, management and labor would wake up and become efficient.

Among other things are: Fixing a new and guaranteed rate of money exchange for all Western nations, the powers of the World Bank, President Truman's Point 4, our American Tariff, the so-called Block Balances, the continuation of Lend-Lease, etc. All these, how-age stamp for trading among themselves. In effect, this would mean extending England's present preferential trading system (which now applies only to the members of the British Commonwealth) to other Democracies such as the U. S., France, Holland, Belgium, Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, and perhaps Greece and Turkey.

ILLINOIS COWHAND—To the grown-ups in Barrington, Ill., it was a costume parade, but to Mike Mervis and his ponies, it was the real "wild west." Cowhand Mike surveys the Illinois prairies with his Shetland ponies, Greenie and Ellen, after winning a prize in the costume show.

Years Of Prosperity
Such a program might temporarily hurt a few U. S. manufacturers whom the government could for a while subsidize. Labor might fight it for fear of unemployment; but its ultimate results could mean a higher standard of living and better security for every reader of this column, the people of the United States as well as the people of foreign lands. The United States cannot long continue to "live the life of Riley" while the rest of the world is starving. The sooner we realize this the better for all concerned including ourselves.

I am sure that President Truman is anxious to put over such a program. If the Republicans would heartily join therein, employment and profits would again increase and the entire business situation would definitely improve. I can even envisage a great boom in the stock market and another 5 or 10 years of prosperity. Such a program must, however, get off "on the right foot." Republicans must not cry "wolf, wolf" and scare people into believing that it is a mistake to pray: "Thy Kingdom come on earth." This would not be a case of trying to "get something for nothing" but rather of Getting Something For Something.

Cause Of Puny Pigs Discovered

Chicago, (SS.)—The cause and the cure of a mysterious ailment that produces puny pigs was announced here this morning. The cause has eluded veterinarians for years.

The illness has doomed thousands of pigs each year to fail to achieve adult stature, an expensive loss to farmers. It produces an inflammation of the digestive tract, the animals fail to gain weight and consequently are a total loss as porkers.

The condition arises, the American Veterinary Medical Association reports, from a protein and vitamin deficiency in the diet. Piglets fed a low-protein diet lacking essential B vitamins develop the inflammation, a form of swine enteritis, and suffer from scours, a form of diarrhea.

A high-protein diet alone does not cure the condition. When in addition B vitamins are injected, the animals promptly respond. They get back their appetite, put on weight, and are well on the way to market. The vitamins used are niacin, calcium pantothenate, and in some cases, reboflavin.

ever, are more temporary palliatives to relieve the patient (England) of pain. They are like giving aspirin and an electric pad to someone who needs a surgical operation.

Goal To Seek

My prayer and hope is that the conference will get down to fundamentals—namely of getting the democracies into an honest and workable economic union. We are already fast approaching a mutual defense union, and this is a step in the right direction. This, however, is much like repairing and painting an old house which really needs new timbers and a strong foundation. Let each nation continue to run its internal affairs as it wishes, but insist that we get together on economic matters. These cannot successfully be divided by drawing lines on maps. Russia has no trade barriers between its different countries. In order for the Democracies to hold their own, they must reduce tariff barriers, have an international dollar and perhaps a single post-

The car that likes to be compared!

PLYMOUTH

Great Value is built into every beautiful inch of the new Plymouth. For the positive proof—compare! Put this greatest Plymouth ever built up against the other cars—feature for feature, dollar for dollar, mile for mile!

Look at all three of the leading low-priced cars. Plymouth—and only Plymouth—has the famous Air Pillow Ride—now smoother than ever.

The new, more powerful Plymouth engine has a compression ratio of 7 to 1—low-priced car "A" has 6.8 to 1—low-priced car "B" has 6.6 to 1. You get greater performance because Plymouth's higher compression squeezes more power out of every drop of gas. And Plymouth is the only one of "all three" with the sensational new chrome compression ring that adds thousands of miles to the life of the engine.

Plymouth is the only low-priced car with the spectacular new double safety feature—Safety-Rim Wheels with Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes. Patented retaining humps hold the tire straight on the rim in the event of a blow-out. Powerful brakes give quick, safe, accurate stops, without grabbing or biting.

These are just some of the reasons why the new Plymouth is the car that likes to be compared—not just to other low-priced cars—but even to cars costing hundreds of dollars more! Visit your Plymouth dealer who will be glad to arrange a demonstration drive.

White sidewall tires, chrome wheel covers and rear fender scuff guards optional at extra cost.

Of 22 quality features found in high-priced cars—the new Plymouth has 21... low-priced car "A" has 13... low-priced car "B" has 4. That's why the Plymouth today—more than ever before—is the low-priced car most like high-priced cars!

Corn Storage Big Problem

Is Second Biggest Crop In History

By EDWARD H. HOFFMAN
NEA Staff Writer

Des Moines, Ia.—(NEA)—American farmers this year are turning out the second biggest corn crop in history. Now the question is where to put it.

There just isn't enough storage space on farms and in the bins to take care of the estimated 3,500,000,000-bushel harvest expected this season. The dilemma is made worse by a heavy carry-over from last year's record crop of 3,650,000,000 bushels. Many bins and cribs are still crammed with 1948 corn.

Under a law passed at this session of Congress, the Commodity Credit Corporation is authorized to provide extra bins for the 1949 crop and subsequent output. But they won't be built for several weeks. So farmers who want to begin harvesting by Oct. 1 will either have to find storage space on their farms or move the corn directly to market. Heavy marketings already have pushed prices well below support levels.

The storage puzzle has been growing tougher every year as farmers turned more and more to improved varieties of high-yield hybrid seed, greater use of fertilizer and new scientific methods of cultivation. Construction of cribs and bins to hold the vastly increased yield simply hasn't kept up.

In Iowa, for example, the storage space now available was designed to handle an annual output of some 500,000,000 bushels—back in the pre-hybrid days. The outlook for this year is 640,000,000 bushels, an 8% increase. The carry-over of 2,000,000 bushels from 1948 is the nation's top producer.

C. H. Van Vlack, Iowa State College agricultural engineer, is urg-

HOME FOR FAMILIES MAKING $40 A WEEK — The new four-room prefabricated home above is being built by a subsidiary of U. S. Steel to sell for $6300 or less, including a landscaped lot. Known as the "Champion," the low-cost house—designed for families making $35 to $40 a week—is being turned out by Gunnison Homes, Inc., at New Albany, Ind. Before long, it will be available in all sections of the country. The house is built largely of plywood. Features include forced air heating system, complete insulation and streamlined kitchen. Varied exterior designs will avoid "sameness" when the houses are built in groups. Prices will vary according to location, but the "Champion" is designed to sell for a down payment of as little as $350, and monthly payments at about $37.

ing farmers to store corn in shell rather than ear form. He says it's cheaper, that spoilage is less likely to occur and that, of course, shelled corn takes up only half as much space as ear corn. He adds: "Especially is it advisable to shell out old corn now under government seal or purchase agreement, and re-seal it in a tight bin."

Keeping corn in cribs for more than a year is hard on cribs. The crop dries out during the summer and settles as it dries. During later wet weather, it takes on moisture and expands, forcing out the crib walls. Long-time storage of corn also allows rat populations to build up.

Unless present forecasts go awry, the United States will have a corn surplus in excess of 1,000,000,000 bushels by 1950. The Department of Agriculture's headache is not only finding space to put this carry-over; it has to cushion the declining price that result from heavy marketings.

The storage problem plus the big sums paid out by government to assure farmers the support price for their product may lead Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to impose stiff quotas on 1950 output. Almost certainly this would be an unpopular decision, but the government may conclude it has no sound alternative.

Meantime, all this talk of surpluses and lower prices makes pleasant music for consumers. Eventually it will be translated into more and better meat at cheaper prices.

I was a Negro. That means everything. . . Here (in Russia) was a country where a man can breathe easily and freely. ## Army Promotes Music Program

Encourages Barber Shop Singing

By JANE EADS

Washington (AP) — The Army hopes its program of promoting leisure-time barbershop quartet singing will make GIs the world over music-conscious. A Texas boy, Capt. H. H. Copeland, chief of Army Special Services' music section, hopes to get a quartet started in every service post and club in this country and abroad. He believes the barbershop quartet will be the nucleus around which the Army will be able to build a continuing recreational music program.

"You begin with a quartet and finally you get a glee club, then a chorus," he told me. "Soon we'll have everybody singing in the Army." Maj. Gen. Russel B. Reynolds, chief of Special Services, says that through the program a maximum number of soldiers can be reached with a minimum of equipment and supplies.

Cooperating in the project on a "partnership" basis is the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America, Inc., an international organization founded in 1938 by Owen C. Cash of Tulsa, Okla.

Through the society's international president, O. H. King Cole, of Manitowoc, Wis., the society has offered to the Army the services of its approximately 600 chapters and 30,000 members. They will assist in developing barbershop singing among Army personnel. Advisers from local community chapters will assist the post special services officers and service club directors in organizing quartets, choruses, music festivals and other special programs and in helping to train Army leaders.

For its part, among other equipment items the Army will put out a four-record training album consisting of SPEBQSA songs, among which will be "Sweethart of Sigma Chi," "After Dark," "Tell Me Why," "The Old Songs" and "Coney Island Baby."

One side of each record will contain the individual tenor, lead, baritone and bass parts from which the soldier can learn his own part of the song. The other side, a rendition of the same song, enables the soldier to sing the number with the full quartet after he has learned his part.

For the energetic young men in today's Army it is necessary to provide wholesome, satisfactory off-duty recreation in approved environment," says Gen. Reynolds. "In this program Army Special Services is grateful for the cooperation of the SPEBQSA. We are confident that this association will make possible recreational benefits to the soldier which otherwise would be unattainable; will provide soldier relationships with representative members of the community and help to acquaint civilians at first hand with the fine quality of young men who make up our peacetime Army."

U. S. Vessels Safer, Claim

Noronic-Type Fire Would Be Spotted

Washington, (C&S)—It couldn't have happened on an American vessel. Government maritime officials think U. S. safety rules are so stringent that a blaze would be spotted and snuffed out long before it flared into a disaster like that which swept the Noronic.

Compulsory safety devices on U. S. ships, they believe, should detect and extinguish any incipient fire. They pointed out that the Noronic either lacked these safety devices or else they failed to function.

The U. S. safety requirements, which were rigidly tightened after the Morro Castle burned off Asbury Park, N. J., on Sept. 8, 1934, with the death of 134 persons, have been in force since 1935. The measures which officials believe would have nipped in the bud any similar tragedy on American ships include:

1. An automatic sprinkler system.
2. An automatic fire detection and alarm system.
3. A fire patrol system which punch-clocks each station every 20 to 30 minutes.

Any American ship built prior to 1935 (the Noronic was built in 1913) would have these safety requirements as an absolute minimum. Other measures would include fire-smothering equipment in boiler rooms; special checks of stairwells and other uninhabited areas where rubbish might collect and constitute a fire hazard; fireproof or fire-resistant floor coverings, wall coverings, and paints.

In addition to these measures, ships built since 1935 would have fireproof bulkheads every 130 feet along the ship's length to seal off and fires that might get started.

Vessels built according to these rigid Coast Guard specifications are, in the words of one official, "practically fireproof." He pointed out that strictly speaking "there is no such thing as a totally fireproof ship." Steel bulkheads, asbestos partitions, metal furniture, spun-glass drapes and fire-resistant paints will not keep passengers from smoking in bed, he pointed out. And there is still no such thing as fireproof bedclothes.

ALPINE CLIMBERS? NOPE—Except for their hard hats and jackhammers, these men working high on the sheer rock face of a canyon wall might be mistaken for mountain climbers. But the scene is Hungry Horse, Mont., site of what will soon become the world's fourth largest concrete dam, across the Flathead River. These jackhammermen are drilling holes to prepare for blasting the canyon wall down to the solid bedrock that will support the dam. So steep is the wall that two men are required on each jackhammer.

American safety requirements recognize this. They are so designed that if and when a fire does break out, it will be speedily detected and extinguished. Meanwhile alarms will have been sounded so that passengers can be quickly guided to safety.

Atlantic Floating Weather Stations Location Revealed

Montreal—The locations of the ten weather stations to be maintained on the North Atlantic after July 1, 1950, for the benefit of air and surface ships on trans-oceanic routes have now been announced by the International Civil Aviation Organization at its headquarters here.

These ten ocean weather stations will replace 13 now in use. The new network is the result of a recent meeting of the 11 member nations most concerned, held in London earlier this year. The present agreement expires on June 30, 1950 and then the new agreement will go into effect.

Six vessel stations will be maintained by the United States, the nation most concerned, with the cooperation of Canada and The Netherlands in the case of two. One will be about midway between Labrador and the southern tip of Greenland, and another well off Greenland on the route to Iceland. Another is about midway between Newfoundland and Ireland, and a fourth located between Newfoundland and the Azores. The positions of the other two American vessels will be one well off the coast of North Carolina and the other far out in the Atlantic on the same latitude.

The two vessel stations of the United Kingdom are to the south of Iceland, the more southerly one being on the Newfoundland-London route. Still farther south will be a French station, while a Norwegian vessel will occupy waters to the west of that country.

Jane has the keys to many cities

SOUNDS as though Jane's a celebrity, doesn't it? Actually, she's a star performer in an act that's mighty close to modern magic. Let's watch her a minute, seated at a Long Distance switchboard in Detroit.

A light flashes, indicating that someone wants to make a call. Jane answers with a polite "Long Distance."

"I want to talk to Philadelphia, Lombard 3-0100," says the caller.

Jane jots the number down on a slip of paper, plugs into a direct circuit to Philadelphia and then the magic begins.

Within easy reach of her right hand are little push-button keys, which correspond to the letters and numbers on a dial telephone.

Jane simply presses the keys marked

L-O-3-0-1-0-0. In another second or two the telephone bell at Lombard 3-0100 in Philadelphia begins ringing. Someone answers. The connection is completed.

How long did this take? Some connections have been completed in as little as 20 seconds.

Fifteen Michigan Bell exchanges already are equipped for "operator toll dialing" direct to many points. As time goes on, additional equipment will be installed so that eventually it will be possible for Long Distance operators in almost any city to dial telephone numbers in almost every other city.

This is another way we are working to bring you faster, better telephone service at low cost.

Milwaukee Road Head Gives Advice To Boy

PRESIDENT AND A HOPEFUL: Eugene Knol, 15, gets the word from C. H. Buford, head of the Milwaukee Railroad.

By ALBERT GOLDRATH
NEA Staff Correspondent
Chicago (NEA)—C. H. Buford, president of the Milwaukee Railroad, was once a barefoot lad kicking around the sand burrs of Arkansas. So it was with a touch of nostalgia that he read a letter, in his busy Chicago office, from a 15-year-old boy in Blue Earth, Minn., who wrote that he had "chosen to be a railroad president."

Eugene Knol, a high school freshman, told Buford that he had cherished the ambition for two years. Now he had to compose a school paper on what he planned to do in adult life. With youthful directness, he asked the man he thought should know best. The letter found its way "through channels" and Buford found himself, as he said, "on the spot" for a reply.

Buford thought a long time before answering. Then, for Eugene's guidance, he offered a nine-point program, outlining the formula for success in practically any career:

1. Railroad men must be strong and physically fit.
2. No young man can hope to be a railroad president unless he is scrupulously honest, conscientious and considerate.
3. You must be willing to work hard, and love it, without watching the clock.
4. Learn the value of a dollar. Don't waste your own or your employer's money.
5. Cultivate a friendly and pleasing personality. Don't be a grouch.

6: Finish college and perhaps a technical school. Decide whether you want to achieve a railroad presidency through engineering, accounting, business administration, law or some other activity. It is most important to choose the line you will like.

7: Try to work for some railroad during summer vacations. A railroad president must know a great deal about all types of railroad work.

8: To get your first job, go with a letter of introduction, if possible, to the man in charge wherever you find there is an opening.

Otherwise, go on your own, and use the personality you will have developed at that time.

9: By the time your preparation is finished, you will undoubtedly have decided the kind of job you would like to have for permanent employment, and you should go after it in the same way you went after your first job.

Eugene, whose hobbies are model railroading and collecting timetables, followed up his letter with a personal visit to Buford in Chicago. The railroad president repeated the concluding paragraph of his letter:

"I sincerely hope that your ambition may be achieved and that some day, when I am not around, those of your generation will read the annual report of a large railroad, signed by Eugene Knol, president."

Miss Mokszycke
Is The Bride Of
Richard Loeffler

Bark River — Miss Evelyn Mokszycke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mokszycke of Harris, and Richard Loeffler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Loeffler of Spalding, spoke their marriage vows in a ceremony Saturday morning at 9 in St. George's rectory at Bark River. Rev. Neil M. Stehlin officiated.

The bride wore a gown of sheer white marquisette and satin, styled with a bodice of Alencon lace detailed with a sheer bodice, and a flower applique on the full gathered skirt and cathedral train. Her elbow length gloves were of matching lace with cuff effect at the elbows trimmed with a marquisette flower and her veil of imported tulle was caught to a tulle bonnet of Mary Queen of Scots design. Her jewelry was a necklace of pearls, the bridegroom's gift, and she carried red and white roses and stock.

Charlene Loeffler, sister of the bridegroom, was honor attendant and Audrey Bruce of Powers, bridesmaid. Both wore identical gowns of pink and aqua satin and carried white mums.

Walter Mokszycke of Escanaba, brother of the bride, was best man and Bernard LaBoeuf of Powers, groomsmen.

A wedding dinner was served immediate family members at the Loeffler home and a reception held at the Y-Club for 150 guests after which the couple left on a wedding trip through northern Michigan.

Teen-Ager No
Star Boarder

By RUTH MILLETT

Most penetrating observation in this week's mail from my readers "I think there is much to much advice to teen-agers on how to handle their parents and not enough to parents on how to stand up to their children and not just let themselves become standbys, footing the bills, keeping them fed and clothed, etc."

Sure, there is. In just the last few years the teen-ager has been made to think the world revolves around him.

Teen-age columns and teen-age forums and teen-age magazines are forever telling the teen-ager how to "handle his parents."

What was once the "awkward age" has become the age America bows down to.

We play up the teen-ager's slang and the more idiotic is the more publicity it gets.

We have magazines exclusively devoted to teen-age fashions.

We get groups of teen-agers together to tell us what is wrong with parents.

Getting Away With Murder We let our teen-agers monopolize our telephones and our automobiles.

We've built them canteens where they can get completely away from us dull, stupid adults.

We treat them like special persons with special rights—and don't demand anything of them around the house, not even respect.

And we've made them think all this is very cute, indeed.

How all this came about in such a short time, I'm not certain. But it's a cinch it hasn't made life with a teen-ager any easier for his parents.

Nobody wants to go back to the time when we regarded teen-agers as being at the "awkward age."

But haven't we carried this campaign to glorify the teen-ager just a trifle too far?

After all, their parents have to live with them. They have to foot the bills and take the blame when the teen-agers handle their parents so well, they get completely out of hand.

So maybe it's time we started

SITUATION: You are walking down the street with your best girl.
WRONG WAY: Walk with your arm around her shoulders.
RIGHT WAY: Realize that such behavior on your part will make your girl conspicuous.

SITUATION: A man is introduced to a woman.
WRONG WAY: He quickly reaches out to shake her hand.
RIGHT WAY: He waits for her to offer her hand. If she does not—there is no handshake.

SITUATION: A divorced woman wonders if it is correct for her to wear her wedding and engagement rings.
WRONG WAY: She decides it would be incorrect for her to do so.
RIGHT WAY: She wears them, if she wishes.

Another Mrs.
Simpson Will Marry Royalty

London, Sept. 28 (AP)—Socialites on both sides of the Atlantic gossiped today of the announcement that a second American Mrs. Simpson would marry into the British Royal Court circle.

The Marquess of Milford Haven, handsome cousin of King George VI and one of Britain's most eligible bachelors, announced his engagement yesterday to Mrs. Romaine Dahlgren Pierce Simpson, a New York Park Avenue divorcee.

The Marquess, 30, who now makes his living selling heaters, said the wedding would be in Washington, D. C., probably in November.

Mrs. Simpson, an attractive 26-year-old piano student, was divorced in 1948 after two years of marriage to William A. Simpson, whose father was once president of Marshall Field and Co., Chicago department store.

The name of Milford Haven's fiancée recalled the romance of Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson 13 years ago when King Edward VIII—now the Duke of Windsor—gave up his throne to marry her. The two Mrs. Simpsons are not related.

Milford Haven's marriage to Mrs. Simpson will not rock the British empire in the way Edward's romance did. But it may cause some wounded hearts in London and New York society where the dashing young Marquess was right in the front rank of sought-after bachelors.

The Marquess, whose full name is David Michael Mountbatten, was a frequent dancing partner of Princess Margaret Rose and Sharmar Douglas, daughter of U. S. ambassador Lewis W. Douglas. He was best man at the wedding of his cousin, Prince Philip, and Princess Elizabeth in 1947.

Met In New York
Friends said that Milford Haven was believed to have first met Mrs. Simpson in New York on one of his trips as a salesman for a British heating concern. They were seen together on the French Riviera last summer.

The future Marchioness is the daughter of Mrs. Clark McIlwaine of Washington. Mrs. Simpson's father, scientist Vinton U. D. Pierce, died in a railroad accident in 1925.

Mrs. Simpson, a former Barnard college student, has been studying piano in New York. She came to London from Paris two weeks ago. During the war she worked for the U. S. State Department in Washington.

Flapper of 20's
Back In Fashion
Picture of Season

By Dorothy Roe
Associated Press Fashion Editor
New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—The flapper of the terrible twenties is due for a comeback in the fabulous fifties.

Newest indication is the return of the short evening dress, a favorite of the jazz age, now gaining general acceptance in the Bebo era. Along with the single bob, the shorter skirt and the "bunny hug" coat, it is a sign of the times.

Although the short evening dress has appeared in fashion collections for the last four or five years, it has established itself as a major fashion in all price ranges and age groups just this season. Fashion authorities agree that we'll be seeing it this winter on main street as well as Park avenue.

This nostalgic garment is shown in various phases, most extreme of which is the street-length chiffon sheath, embroidered in rhinestones, just as the John Held girls used to wear them back in 1925. The waistline, however, has not yet dropped to the hips, and the bustline is still allowed its natural curves.

An indication of the wide acceptance of the trend comes from Ruth Jacobs, fashion editor of "women's wear," who says:

Evening Dress Short
"There's no question about it—short evening dresses are at their peak of acceptance right now. Although they've been around for several years, we have noted that each year has seen a more general acceptance throughout the country. At first this was a limited big-city fashion. Now short evening dresses are selling at all price levels, and to all age groups. They're even included now in the pattern books. You might call it a 'sweeping' acceptance."

Mainbocher, designer to the upper crust, confirms the opinion: "I have been showing short evening dresses ever since L-85 (wartime restrictions) would permit. I think that if a woman's legs permit it, the shorter evening dress is younger and more fashionable than the long, from dinner dresses right through to ball dresses."

The New York Dress Institute reports the short evening dress as selling in greater numbers this year than at any time since 1929, gaining favor with juniors as well as older women.

Some of the street-length atter-dark outfits, however, are as formal as they come, with strapless tops, bejewelled trimmings and even crinoline skirts.

Jacket Frocks
A favorite city outfit is the strapless street-length dress and matching cover-up jacket. With the jacket, it's a discreet street outfit. Without, it's the last word for dinner or dancing.

Fashion magazines such as "vogue" and "Harper's bazaar" show the street-length evening gown as an important winter fashion. Designers such as Sophie, Hattie Carnegie, Adrian and Lilly Dache feature it in their current collections.

It seems the fashion is here to stay—at least for a season—and that once more it's the style to show your ankles when you dance.

DEMONSTRATE REVOLUTIONARY NEW "TYPESETTER"—Dr. Vannevar Bush, seated, and Dr. Samuel Caldwell of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, demonstrate the electronic typewriter that "photographs" lines of type on film, which in turn can be used to make a printing plate—all in a matter of five minutes. The system, when developed for commercial use, is expected to make obsolete the present-day metal-typesetting machines which years ago put the laborious hand-type setter "out of business." The machine contains a mechanism with a "memory," which stores up letters until a complete line is set. Margins are then evened and the line is photographed. The system is based on inventions by French scientists Rene Higonnet and Louis Moynoud.

Plasma Clinic Is Successful

208 Pints of Blood Donated In County

Two hundred and eight pints of blood were contributed by Delta county residents to the blood plasma program, it is learned from Mrs. Gus Boydston, publicity chairman.

In Gladstone there were 62 actual donors. Ninety-two persons responded to the call for donors but 32 were rejected because of colds and other causes.

In Escanaba there were 178 persons responded and 125 accepted as donors.

The unit also set up at Rock Saturday and 21 pints were given there.

The total is 103 pints higher than 1948's 105 total or almost double the 1948 figure.

Delta county's record at the present time is the best of any county in the Upper Peninsula.

Usage of plasma in the county was 54 pints in 1944, 63 in 1945, 197 in 1946, 247 in 1947 and 476 in 1948 when the war surplus plasma was available.

When processed Delta county will receive a plasma credit from the State health department for about 145 pints. This reduction is due to the fact that when the blood is processed there is about a 70 percent return. Analysis reveals the donors have liver, kidney or other ailments which render the blood unsuited for use.

On the local committee were Mrs. Robert Ryde chairman; Mrs. J. R. VanArman, recruiting; Mrs. Gus Boydston, publicity; Mrs. M. J. Neveaux, registration and Mrs. H. T. Brewer, canteen.

Negro College Studies Nutrition

Nashville, Tenn.—A nutrition research project has been approved to be carried out at Tennessee Agricultural and Industrial College here on funds allotted under the Research and Marketing Act. It is the first such project to be approved for a Negro college. Approval is a direct outgrowth of work by Dr. J. R. Otis, Alabama colored extension leader, who was appointed last year by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to survey research personnel and facilities of Negro colleges and to determine how they might be utilized under the RMA. Selected Negro children will be studied in this project, which is part of a nation-wide program to determine the nutritional status and food intake of various population groups.

Only Housewives Get No Handouts

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Government's most forgotten wife is the American housewife.

The hand that rocks the cradle may rule the world—but it isn't getting any handouts from Washington. And it appears to be the only one that isn't.

There is a department of commerce to help the tired business-man solve his commercial woes. There is a department of labor for the poor working man. And there are so many agencies set up to assist nature's nobleman, the farmer, that he can plant his seeds upside down in a hurricane and still make money.

But there is no Marshall plan for the matrons, no subsidies for housewives. This is certainly undemocratic, as there are more housewives than businessmen, more housewives than working men, more housewives than dirt farmers.

And it is the housewives who keep the nation going. They control most of the wealth, buy most of the goods, pay most of the bills. If it weren't for the financial genius of the woman of the house, half the homes in America would be bankrupt in a year.

What recognition do housewives get for keeping the country on an even keel? A few kind words on Mother's Day, a half dozen battered red roses—and maybe a dinner out at the local beanyery. Even then the waiter usually hands her the check, since she is the only solvent member of the family.

But it isn't enough to be a bargain basement cinderella one evening of the year, and a grease monkey to a vacuum cleaner the other 364 days. So mama mopes and feels frustrated and inferior. The kids are going to school and getting educated, papa makes like a hero because he sails forth five times a week to bring home the bacon. But all she is doing, she feels, is chasing dust and wiping dishes. It is a drab renown, and a small world after all.

Just Organize, Girls
The answer, girls, is to organize. A political league of housewives would bring the politicians running to reward you for your votes.

What do you want, ladies? Free seeds for your flowerbeds? A sabbatical leave every four years? Government-paid maid service on Sundays?

Dearies, don't think you can't get all this—and more. And you wouldn't have to fork over any cash to the five-percenters. All you'd have to do to win any demand would be to threaten a country-wide strike. No nation can live by the can opener alone. And if you quit wiping junior's nose, washing the dishes, doing the laundry or cooking the groceries—why, millions of hungry husbands would march on the capital to get you anything you asked.

But don't sell yourselves too cheap. Make 'em dig up some of that filthy gold in Fort Knox and circulate it. How about bonuses? Why not government-paid trips to Europe every year to investigate what foreign housewives are doing? And wouldn't it be a good idea to create a new cabinet post—secretary of the department of the home—held by a housewife?

And don't forget pensions. Senators get them. Why shouldn't wives? Senators' wives, too. You girls just don't know your own muscle.

Detroit Minister Delivers Lecture At First Methodist

Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, prominent Detroit minister, spoke to a large gathering at the First Methodist church Monday evening.

His discourse, "Why We Must Be Christians," was more in the nature of a lecture than a sermon. In his talk he was unsparing of Christian people (including many in his own denomination) as he was of those outside of the church. He said these elements didn't seem to grasp what Christianity was all about.

The ultimate aim of a true Christian, he said, is embodied in the word "Life," quoting Jesus as saying "I am come that ye may have life and that ye may have it more abundantly."

He strongly urged his listeners to adhere to some church organization.

Dr. Crane, it was revealed, was a nephew of the late Dr. Frank Crane, one of the most prominent columnists and lecturers of the period at the close of World War I. The Detroit man's father had died when he was a child and his uncle raised him and supervised his education.

Lunch was served in the church parlors following the lecture.

Lund claimed that he was forced to leave the road to avoid hitting a youngster on a bicycle.

Judge Stephens admonished the defendant on the importance of reporting accidents immediately.

Harvard's Houston (1st Name Howard) Is Lineman of Week

New York, Sept. 28 (P)—Harvard took a 44-0 drubbing from Stanford on the Pacific Coast last Saturday, but nevertheless came up with the football lineman of the week in 23-year-old Howard Houston.

In the first Associated Press poll of the grid season the 200-pound senior tackle from Haverhill, Mass., today was named the top lineman of 38 nominations.

Houston, who served three years in the Army Air Corps from 1943 to 1946 and who was one of the East's top heavyweight collegiate wrestlers last year, earned an unusual tribute from Marchie Schwartz, Stanford coach.

"Houston undoubtedly was an all-American against us," Schwartz told San Francisco football writers. "This is something I seldom do. I intend to write Houston a personal letter congratulating him on his fine play. He made 90 per cent of the tackles on defense and was hard to block out."

"Even when the Harvard cause was utterly hopeless in the fourth period Houston played his heart out. He is one of the best I have seen in years."

Cardinals, Red Sox Hold One-Game Leads Over Rivals In Red-Hot Pennant Races

By the Associated Press
The St. Louis Cardinals' violation of the unwritten baseball rule "let sleeping dogs lie" may cost them the National league pennant.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, a docile sixth place club when Ralph Kiner isn't on the prowl, act like a pack of roaring lions when they clash with the swifties from St. Louis—chiefly because of an early-season feud.

Pittsburgh chopped the Cards' advantage over Brooklyn to one game last night, scoring a 6-4 triumph over their despised rivals before 27,283 fans under the lights at Forbes field. The Dodgers were idle.

While the Pirates jolted the Cards, the Boston Red Sox downed their "cousins", the Washington Senators, 6-4, to protect their one game American league lead over the New York Yankees.

The Yanks defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-1 in the afternoon.

The Pirates' long war with the Cards began early in the season when Ken Johnson, wild young Cardinal lefthander, beamed Short-Stop Stan Rokjok. The Pirates charged the Card catcher Joe Garagiola had deliberately called for the bean ball. Garagiola and Card Manager Eddie Dyer denied the accusation but the Pirates were firm in their conviction.

The vendetta flamed anew in the Pirates' last visit to St. Louis. Enos Slaughter of the Cards spiked Pirate Second Baseman Danny Murtaugh and the Pirates vowed to take care of the Red Birds when they came to Pittsburgh.

This they did in no uncertain manner. The Pirates belted Red

Munger, righthanded ace of the Cards, for five runs in the second inning to clinch the game last night.

Rookie Outfielder Tom Saffell dropped Munger through the trap door with a grand slam home run to climax the rally. The runs will not blemish Munger's earned run average as an error by Red Schoendienst made all of the runs unearned. The Pirates now have beaten the Cards 11 times in 21 games.

Joe Dobson, with help from Walt Masterson, pitched the ram-paging Red Sox to victory over Washington's woeful Senators. The victory was Boston's 11th straight and its 14th consecutive win over Washington.

The Sox socked Paul Calvert for six runs in the first six innings while Dobson limited the Senators to one hit over the same span. Boston drove Calvert out with a four run blast in the sixth, which Dobson capped with a run-producing single.

Washington loaded the bases against Dobson in the seventh with none out but managed to score only once. The Senators sent Curly Joe to the showers in the following inning, scoring three runs before Masterson rushed in, threw a double play ball to Roberto Ortiz, and got Eddie Robinson to fly out.

Vic Raschi hung up his 20th victory in pitching the Yanks to victory over Philadelphia.

The Yanks jumped on Dick Fowler for all of their runs in the third inning. Fowler forced the first one home by walking Tommy Henrich with the bases loaded. Yogi Berra followed with a two-run single to chase Fowler in favor of Bobby Shantz.

Eskymo, Maroon Varsity, Scrubs Tangle Saturday

It's a double feature at the Escanaba high school athletic field Saturday afternoon.

Not only will the Escanaba Eskymo and Menominee Maroon varsity eleven clash in the "piece de resistance" at 2:30 but the schools' reserve eleven also will collide at 12:30 p. m.

Coaches Stephen Baltic and Jack Magnuson have been working since the outset of the season with the Eskymo reserves, and this will be their first test of the season.

Eskymo varsity gridders are doing a bit of experimenting toward developing more scoring power and finding a replacement for the injured Dick Danielson, regular quarterback, who likely will be out for the season with a broken finger.

Danielson suffered a fractured digit in the first quarter of the Norway game but it did not appear more serious than an ordinary sprain, and he played the remainder of the game. It was not until some time later that it was learned he had broken his finger.

Cognizant of the power that Menominee displayed in overwhelming Calumet, 41-0, last Saturday, the Eskymos are working diligently this week in hopes of handing the Maroons their first defeat of the season. To date, Menominee has toppled Merrill, Wis., 16-6; Kingsford, 13-6, and Calumet.

Escanaba has defeated the Soo, 7-2; Ironwood, 7-6, and lost a 12-7 heartbreaker to Norway, although they "downed and out-gained" the Vikings by a wide margin.

Despite their loss to Norway, Eskymo morale is high. The Eskymo gridders are determined to make their best possible showing against the Maroons and a victory, which in some circles might be regarded as an upset, is not unlikely.

Boudreau Scores Winning Run As Tribe Edges Sox

U. P. State Police Cop Pistol Honors

Jackson, Mich. Sept. 28 (P)—A three-man team of State Police from the eighth (Marquette) district captured the Fletcher trophy for pistol marksmanship yesterday.

Capt. C. W. Robertson, Sgt. Nicholas Modders and Trooper Thomas Tobin scored 1,139 out of a possible 1,200 points to top all contenders. Second to the Upper Peninsula team was the Rockford Post with 1,131 and Traverse City third with 1,124.

Individual honors and the superintendent's trophy went to Sgt. Tim Hurley of the State Police operations office at East Lansing. He scored 390 points out of a possible 400.

Scribe Picks Michigan, Illini Over Wisconsin And, Of Course, Irish

By Charles Chamberlain
Chicago, Sept. 28 (P)—Coming out for a second round of football forecasting (we got 'em all last week except the Illinois-Iowa State tie):

Illinois 20 Wisconsin 14—The Illini have the makings of a pretty solid outfit and probably will jell this week after that 20-20 stalemate with Iowa State.

Tony Klimek and Walt Kersults will be off the cripple list, affording a pair of choice targets for passer Bernie Krueger... sophomores Johnny Karras and Ronnie Clark give Illinois more ball-carrying speed... but a victory will be far from simple... Wisconsin showed exceptional fleetness and passing in routing Marquette 41-0.

Purdue 21 Iowa 7—The Boiler-makers uncorked an impressive first half against Northwestern before losing 20-6 while U.C.L.A. rattled Iowa with passes 41-25.

Harry Sulzborski, possibly the most dangerous runner in the conference, will be back in harness for Purdue after a week's shelving with a leg injury... the two replacements for him in the Northwestern game netted only seven yards.

Ohio State 27 Indiana 13—The Buckeyes probably will be favored by a lot more on the parity cards despite the narrow 35-34 squeak over Missouri... The Hoosiers showed well for the first half against Notre Dame before their manpower wore out... given a shot of reserve strength they might surprise, but not this time.

Michigan 28 Stanford 13—The Pacific Coast, after Stanford's 44-0 trouncing of Harvard, thinks the Indians may be ready for an upset... but Michigan will start rolling in this one to carry through to a 25th straight victory... that scare the big 10 champions received before downing Michigan State 7-3 will help sharpen them for a Stanford kill.

Minnesota 40 Nebraska 0—It appears now that the Gophers are going to be hard to stop from drawing a bead on the big 10 title and Rose Bowl trip... Billy Byr's capers and Dick Lawrence's passing behind a stupendous line give Minnesota a terrific blend of power... after brushing off Washington, 48-20, this should be another romp.

Northwestern 28 Pittsburgh 13—Art Murakowski, who averaged seven yards per carry against Purdue, will have a good chance to boost it against Pitt, a rapidly improving outfit made up entirely of seniors and juniors... but the Panthers will make it interesting.

Notre Dame 35 Washington 6—Another chance for the Irish reserves to see some action... Notre Dame's stockpile is unmatched and this one should be another wear-'em-down, carry-'em-out frolic.

Michigan State 35 Marquette 0—The Hilltoppers, reeling from that pasting by Wisconsin, will get another hefty sock.

Alen Jones, sophomore from Washington, D. C., was given a chance at quarterback to spell Gene Glick, senior veteran from Saginaw and sophomore Bob Ciolek, Bob Graves, a sophomore from Royal Oak, worked at full-back along with veterans Frank Waters and Jim Blenkhorn.

Johnny Poloncak, a lightweight but a terrific scrapper, has been carrying at left half along with Sonny Grandelius, a junior from Muskegon Heights. Both should see action to share some of the load carried in the opener by Jesse Thomas of Flint and Horace Smith of Jackson.

Reds Keep Seventh Place With 5 to 4 Win Over Chicago

Cincinnati, Sept. 28 (P)—Virgil Stallcup's fourth hit of the game with two out in the ninth drove in Danny Litwhiler with the run Tuesday that gave Cincinnati a 5 to 4 victory over Chicago and enabled the Reds to hang on to seventh place in the National league.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

BY JIM WARD

Sure, sure, we know, the average took a nosedive after a very respectable start, but it's still a healthy .767 with 23 correct in 30 calls.

We were not alone among other Upper Peninsula prognosticators what a business! In having trouble with such traditional bases as Soo-Newberry, Marquette-Ishpeming and Negaunee-Munising, all of which backfired on us, and we rode sadly along with both Escanaba eleven last Saturday.

Elsewhere along the line, we did all right. We hasten to report that we have installed a de-humidifier in the Escanaba Daily Press vault, where we keep our crystal ball, and we expect to have the fog cleared before tomorrow morning.

It is interesting how the alleged minds of prognosticators work. There is no collaboration. It is all independent work. Jim Ripley does a regular turn at Menominee. Buck Erickson is Iron Mountain's prophet, and in Marquette, they have a corporation. Jim Trethewey, Bob Biolo, Bob Brumm and Wire Editor Ken Lowe combine forces each week to give Marquette readers Consensus, who is now clipping along merrily at a .778 rate. Consensus is the latest addition to the Mining Journal payroll.

In the Crystal Falls-Houghton game last Saturday, both the Iron Mountain prophet and your ever-faithful scribe hit fairly close. We said it would be Crystal Falls 26, Houghton 13. Buck liked 25-13. Only one point difference. See what we mean? And there is never any collaboration in this sort of thing. Each prophet has his own secret method. Incidentally, that score actually was Crystal Falls 26, Houghton 6.

But, like we intimated in the second paragraph above, there must be an easier way to make a living!

Cuff notes: Our list of prospective Upper Peninsula all-star timber now includes Jim Chapekis, Escanaba guard; Melvin Holme, Stambaugh fullback; Bill Olivanti, Iron Mountain halfback, and Bob Peshek, Kingsford halfback... The season is young... Ernest Pardon, Norway back, is also on the list.

They're going to introduce members of the 1904 Escanaba high school state championship football team at the 45th reunion at the Menominee-Escanaba game here Saturday... Someone suggested they go through a mock scrimmage or at least signal drill... Not a bad idea but the public address system might pick up those creaking joints.

Michigan Tech's football roster includes Gerald Froberg, freshman end from Gwinn... Escanaba's Gerald Harris, a St. Joseph's star quarterback and ball handler de luxe, evidently has decided to by-pass football... He's a Tech frosh... Just about every other player on the Tech squad is a Copper Country resident.

An Escanaba church softball league was formed at the Immanuel Lutheran church last night... Looks like a fast eight-team league consisting of teams from Immanuel, Central Methodist, First Methodist, First Presbyterian, St. Stephen's Episcopal, Bethany Lutheran and two teams from the Gladstone Lutheran Brotherhood.

To help eliminate those unpopular automatic outs, the league appears in favor of a minimum of six and maximum of eight... Any less than six, of course, and you have to take an automatic out... Otherwise, in a crucial game late in the season, a team just might, just barely might, mind you, show up with only two or three of its best players... Coffee and doughnuts are going to be the rule this year, also... That's a popular choice.

Powers-Spalding Plays Second Grid Game At Negaunee

Powers-Spalding will play their second game of the season against St. Paul of Negaunee Friday afternoon at Negaunee.

St. Paul's has started football for the first time this year so little is known of its strength.

F. B. Lloyd Fazer.

Ernest Dalla Costa will serve a dual purpose as a lineman and a fullback. He showed up nicely on the line against Stephenson and he will be needed to relieve Fazer at the fullback post because Fazer sustained a hip injury during the last game.

Two others who probably will see action are Jim Grau and Lemrod Labonte, guards.

Changed Habitat

Tigers probably have extended their range from cold regions into warmer ones, because tiger cubs are woolly at birth, indicating a natural protection against cold, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Annual City Softball Dinner This Evening

The annual Escanaba Softball association dinner will be held at 7 this evening at the American Legion club. Ed Gauthier, chairman, said yesterday that from 130 to 150 players, fans and officials are expected to attend.

George Grenholm will serve as toastmaster in the after dinner program and Harold Lindsay will be the principal speaker. Other honored guests who will give short talks include Mayor Robert LeMire, Ken Gunderman, Tony Flynn, Jim Ward, and Denie McGinn, father of local softball.

President Phil Brazeau will preside at the business meeting during which next year's officers will be elected and sections of the constitution will be reviewed. The Denis McGinn trophy, symbolic of the city championship, will be presented to the NuWay Cleaners.

The American league trophy will be given to the Liberty Loans and Northland Stores will receive the National league award. The St. Joe Boosters will receive a trophy for winning the Oldtimers league championship.

American league pitching and batting trophies will be presented to Louie Kositzky and Tom St. Germain, respectively, with the National league pitching award going to Jim Fitzpatrick and the batting trophy to Paul Vardigan.

Tickets will be available at the Legion club door for those fans who haven't as yet placed their reservations.

Foreign Money Amazes Tourist

Gets Wad Of French Money For $20

By JOSEPH A. DEAR

Paris—Out of all the current devaluation talk has come a new flurry of argument for a "joint currency."

But let this bewildered traveler say that any joint currency of English devising would reduce the United States to a country of glass-eyed nitwits. That goes for the rest of European money, too.

To begin with, the British monetary system is based on the number 12. This is the first thing kindly Englishmen tell visiting Americans. The best thing for a tourist to do is forget all about 12 as soon as it is mentioned. It only leads to nasty complications like "thruppennies," "happennies," and what not.

Starting with a twenty dollar bill, here's what has been happening to American tourists all this summer. Mr. Average Tourist plunks down the twenty and is a bit disturbed when he is handed four piddly bills and a fistful of change. The bills are pounds. Each is worth about $4. That's the first thing to get hold of—the smallest English bill in general use is worth four smackers. (There is another, the 10 shilling note, worth about $2, but it isn't so common.)

Imagine what it would be in U. S. A. if there were no dollar bills. Your coat would sag with silver coin. Well, that's exactly the way it is in England.

Feel Like Refugees

As a result most Americans feel like refugees from a counting house. Say you have a snack in the afternoon, which by laborious calculation you estimate is costing 75 cents in American money. You hand the waitress a pound, which you know equals four dollars, and look with amazement at the stack of silver she gives you for change. The first confused reaction that most Americans have is: "I've been robbed." How could your change be right if it doesn't include some folding stuff? Then comes the problem of tipping. The job of finding 10 per cent of that mess of crowns, half crowns, shillings, happennies, pences, and so on, is just too much.

A friend of mine drastically shortened his proposed stay in London because of tipping. Being especially conscientious, he always wanted to give the proper tip. But that wasn't easy for one unfamiliar with the coins.

In France, the situation is the reverse of that in England. There are no large denomination French bills. True 1000 francs sounds big, but it is just slightly more than $3. Other franc notes are of the following denominations: 500, 300, 100, 50, 20, 10, 5. Five francs is less than two cents. So the tourist arriving in France from England is changing from a country where there seems to be an excess of coin to a nation where paper money reigns supreme.

Trouble With Tips

Twenty bucks in France brings the tourist six thousand franc notes, each as large as a paper napkin, and a variety of smaller stuff. If the traveler cracks one of the 1000 franc notes to make a small purchase, he is liable to think the transaction has increased his wealth because of the wad of paper he'll get for change.

On the other hand, the tourist may have visions of bankruptcy when he gets a bill for 1200 francs. But he'll be relieved after rapid computation has convinced him this is less than four dollars.

That fellow who had so much trouble with tips in England also got off to a bad start here. Recalling the extraordinary value of each English bill, he generously decided five francs was sufficient trip for French baggage handlers. Needless to say, he didn't find them very gracious.

The French do have some coins. They range in value from one to ten francs, and look like the coins sold in children's toy sets in the United States.

Incidentally, the Italians edge out the French when it comes to oversized bills. Some Italian notes look like strips of wall paper. As a matter of fact, it probably wouldn't cost too much to use them for that, either.

BIRD STOPPED TRAIN

A six-pound pheasant stopped an 853-ton train in 1925, when it flew through the window of the locomotive cab and knocked down the engineer. Automatic brakes stopped the train when the engineer released his hold on the throttle.

State Commander DAV Speaker Last Evening

Gordon Forell, new departmental commander of the Disabled American Veterans of Michigan was guest of honor and principal speaker at a special meeting of the DAV here last evening in the club rooms. Commander Forell is presently making a tour of the various Chapters of the DAV located in the upper and the northern section of the lower peninsula.

Members of the official party included Mrs. Carrie Burgess, departmental vice-commander of the Womens Auxiliary; departmental junior-vice commander Fontecchio, of Iron Mountain; Upper Peninsula service officer, John Stukel; and Hubert Burgess, member of the state personnel board.

Mr. Stukel presented a very informative address on legislation pending before Congress which will benefit the Disabled Veteran, and on various aspects of the insurance refund by the Veterans Administration. Vice-Commander Burgess spoke briefly on various problems of the Womens Auxiliary, and Commander Forell presented a brief and important discussion concerning his tour of the Upper Peninsula, and the particular importance of joining the Disabled American Veterans, with the benefits to be gained therefrom.

Perhaps the largest attendance ever to attend a DAV meeting was present. At the close of the formal session the Womens Auxiliary provided a delightful and substantial lunch.

"We've found nothing that approaches the power and speed of our FORD F-8 BIG JOB!"

"IN TEN YEARS of construction work we've operated several makes of trucks, some with engines of far greater cubic displacement, but we've found nothing that approaches the power and speed of our 145-h.p. Ford F-8 Big Job!" reports Larry Wolf, owner of the Wolf Construction Co. "Carrying a larger box and a bigger load, our F-8 gains one to two laps per day on other trucks. It hasn't missed a day in over 24,000 miles, and operating costs have been amazingly low. Repair bills total only $1.85."

Mr. Wolf is but one of many Ford BIG JOB enthusiasts who has taken time to write about the remarkable performance of the Ford F-7 and F-8. Thousands of others are profiting from gas economy unusual in the big truck field... from ability to carry gross loads of 50,000 lbs. ... and more on tandem-axle semi's... from power that makes the BIG JOB the king of the hills.
